Victory Parade In Berlin

New 65-Ton Soviet Tanks Sensational

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP).—The military might of four great Allies thundered through Berlin's battered streets today in a jubilant victory parade marked by Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov's sobering plea for "organization of a just, enduring and complete peace."

More than 50 low-slung 65-ton Soviet tanks, of a type virtually no spectator of the three other Allies knew existed, roared three abreast past the reviewing stand where Russian, American, British and French officers stood at attention.

First troops in the parade were a Soviet Guards Battalion, which had captured the Reichstag and Hitler's Chancellery.

Then came France's Chasseurs and Zouaves, Britain's Queens, Devons and Durhams, and the Americans.

The new 25-ton British-made Comet tank made its appearance.

But the Soviet steel monsters with guns apparently twice as large as the American 75's furnished the day's sensation.

Soviet junior officers refused to answer Allied correspondents' queries regarding the tanks, which plunged down the street with turrets closed.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times and published in The [illegible] by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily [illegible]

[illegible] right 1945 by Southam Co.

LONDON, Sept 7.—While Britain has to work to raise the standard of living in postwar years, the United States has to learn to live on a standard higher than prewar.

Thus The Times summarizes the tasks facing two nations as it reviews editorially President Truman's message to Congress on demobilization and reconstruction, and the speech by Herbert Morrison, Britain's Lord President of the Council, on the same subject the day before.

Morrison stated as the primary task of Britain the recovery of a standard of life which was so much curtailed in order to wage war, then to resume the path of progress. Its achievement depended on the increase of industrial efficiency and in the output of goods and services, coupled with a proportionate development of consuming power.

He gave as the goal an increase in productivity of 15 per cent in the next five years, a goal which is obtainable only by work, thought, drive and initiative.

In the United States it was no question of regaining living standards, but rather of learning to live 50 per cent better than ever before as the standard rose sharply during the war. The task is to see that a massive flow of goods and services can now be fully absorbed.

The Times recalls that prewar free and competitive demand could not absorb a national output only half as big as the present one. It took a wartime partnership between the state and private enterprise to double the productive capacity of the nation and remove unemployment.

The President, The Times says, plainly wishes this partnership to continue with fewer restraints on private enterprise than in the original New Deal but with still larger and more effective powers of public expenditure and development.

While the signs were not propitious, only thus could the United States go on to prosper and enable the peace-loving nations of the world to become self-supporting.

The Times expresses dissatisfaction with the Greek Government's conduct of affairs in an editorial coinciding with the visit of the Greek Regent to Britain. At the same time it prints a long dispatch from its correspondent in Athens, which says that the present Greek regime appears to have not a single friend in Greece.

Fears expressed at the time the caretaker Government was formed that it might compromise its non-party character by its eagerness to curb the Communists have not proved groundless, The Times says.

Tells of Horrors

Adding to the eyewitness accounts of fiendish tortures practised by the Japanese upon war prisoners is the report of a New York physician Dr Harold Keschner (above), who was captured in Bataan. He told of men who were cremated on spits and of horribly sadistic "medical experiments."

Canadians in Manila Soon

By WILLIAM STEWART

Canadian Press War Correspondent

HONGKONG, Sept. 7 (CP).—A large number of prisoners of war, including all Canadians and civilian internees held by the Japanese before Hongkong's liberation, will be evacuated to Manila within a week by the Empress of Australia, peacetime Canadian liner which arrived at Hongkong Tuesday with 3,000 air force personnel.

Arrangements have been made for the Empress to turn around quickly, carrying liberated servicemen and civilians. Hospital cases from Samshuipo prison camp, where the Canadians were held, and Stanley internment camp, already have left aboard the hospital ship Oxfordshire, and a second hospital ship tied up at Kowloon now is taking the others.

Arrival at Manila of the first group of 33 Canadians directly from Hongkong was reported today by Col R S Malone, director of public relations, Canadian Army. Col Malone said the men were in process of being removed from a British hospital ship.

The Australia has been placed at the disposal of officials by Rear Admiral Cecil Harcourt, head of the Hongkong military administration, who commanded the British naval force which entered the British Crown colony last week.

The liner is being cleaned and prepared for the trip to Manila where replacement camps have been converted for reception of persons who have been in Japanese hands.

Some have chosen to remain in Hongkong rather than return home. While such choice depends largely on medical advice, many soldiers who were here before the war have decided to remain unless specifically ordered otherwise.

Surrender Papers Given to Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept 7 (AP).—The Japanese surrender papers signed aboard the battleship Missouri were presented to President Truman by War Secretary Stimson today at an informal White House ceremony.

Receives Cross

LONDON, Sept 7 (CP).—Wing Cmdr Kenneth Cecil Maclure of Westmount, Que., chief research officer on last May's Polar research flight by the R.A.F. bomber Aries, received the Air Force Cross today for the exploit.

Veterans Start Off Debates

Move, Second Reply to Speech From Throne

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP) — Two young war veterans set the new House of Commons off on what will probably be weeks of debate when they moved and seconded the address in reply to the Speech From the Throne today.

Assigned to this role by the Liberal Party leadership, they drew congratulations on their performance from John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader. Mr Bracken himself will make his first major speech in the House Monday with a critical approach to the Government's policy and record.

Today's speakers were Wing Commander W. N. Benidickson (L., Kenora-Rainy River), and Lieut Leopold Langlois (L., Gaspe). Wing Cmdr Benidickson, round-faced and youthful looking, was in civilian clothes while Lieut Langlois wore the blue uniform of a naval officer. They were messmates at Halifax during the war when Wing Cmdr. Benidickson served as R.C.A.F. liaison officer to the navy.

As usual on the first business day of a session the House received piles of documents, laid on the table by ministers. They included reports of departments, boards and commissions, orders in council passed since Parliament was last in session and the major international agreements which Parliament will be asked to ratify.

Finance Minister Ilsley followed up the tabling of the report of the Mutual Aid Board by Munitions Minister Howe with a statement on the discontinuance of mutual aid.

He said production and shipment of war materials was stopped when it became apparent Japan would surrender in order to give countries destined to receive them an opportunity to say whether they wanted more.

Food and peacetime goods were allowed to keep on moving but as of the termination of mutual aid, September 2, the receiving countries were notified that the cost would be charged to their accounts.

Mr Benidickson called on the Government to give members of the forces a chance to join the peacetime permanent forces which Canada will maintain. Unless they are given that chance and advised of the terms, he feared the "cream of the crop" from military point of view might be lost.

The naval officer, Lieut Langlois, whose constituency is washed by salt water along its long coastline, hoped the Government would see to it that Canada had a peacetime fleet of modern ocean-going cargo ships carrying Canadian freight to overseas customers.

Old Mine Pithead Near Nanaimo Will Burn in Celebration

NANAIMO, Sept. 7 (CP).—A half-century old coal mine pithead towering on the southern tip of Protection Island, marking the approach to Nanaimo Harbor, will go up in flames next Wednesday evening, culminating a service club-sponsored Children's Day of Total Victory.

The pithead structure, entrance to miles of coal mine tunnels branching out under the gulf waters more than 600 feet below the surface, was donated for the celebration by Canadian Collieries Limited. The subterranean mine once produced millions of tons of coal but has long been abandoned.

U.B.C.M. Endorses in Principle Proposals From Labor Groups

Mayor N. C. Stibbs of Nelson was elected president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities yesterday at the closing session of the 42nd annual convention at Qualicum Beach. He succeeds Alderman John Bennett of Vancouver, who was made a life member of the Union in recognition of his services for the last several years.

Mayor W. C. Hamilton of Port Alberni was elected first vice-president and Mayor W. M. Mott of New Westminster second vice-president.

Others re-elected were: Harry J. Sullivan, of New Westminster, the solicitor; Secretary R. R. F. Sewell, of Victoria, and Commissioner A. D. McRae of Mission. Seven of the eight executive members were re-elected by ballot, with Mayor Percy George of Victoria, the only addition, replacing Mayor Mott.

Alderman Charles Jones of Vancouver and Mayor J. E. Gordon of Rossland were nominated for the second vice-presidency but were defeated in the balloting.

Prior to the election heated debate ensued over presentation of a six-point program to the convention Thursday by John Turner, secretary-treasurer of the Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.).

The proposals advanced by Mr Turner, who spoke as representative of the Labor Veteran Reconversion Committee of Vancouver, were severance pay for war workers, 40-hour week, shipbuilding in Vancouver, regional bodies to take action on reconversion projects, meeting with the Provincial Cabinet and a delegation go to Ottawa to press for jobs for all.

STATEMENT STARTS STORM OF PROTESTS

At the outset of the discussion Reeve W. Dickinson of West Vancouver pointed out that as the proposals were not advanced by a city or municipality, it was contrary to the constitution to ask delegates to vote on the matter. This started a storm of protest.

Some of the municipal representatives, however, including Mayor Mott, Alderman G. L. Jones of Kelowna and Alderman Jones of Vancouver insisted that it was the right of delegates to this convention to use their opinions collectively and not return to their various councils and discuss the proposals individually as suggested by some.

Chairman Bennett granted R. K. Gervin, secretary of the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.), five minutes to speak to the convention. During his address, Mr Gervin told of the layoff of several thousand workers from war plants in Vancouver and said it was a duty of "you and municipal representa-

Tables Turned at Japanese Prison Camp

It was turn of the former Japanese captors in the Ofuna prison camp near Yokohama, Japan, to bow low before Allied soldiers they had made captive and for whom they had contempt before. Liberated troops are shown passing out of the camp, reputed to have been one of the worst in this area, as their one-time jailors bend from the hips. "So sorry."

Chinese Hatred of Japs Flared In Reoccupation of Hongkong

By WILLIAM STEWART

Canadian Press War Correspondent

MANILA, Sept 7 (CP).—British reoccupation of Hongkong Crown colony off the coast of China was orderly and, on the whole, conducted without undue difficulty. There was some looting by Chinese residents and sniping by Japanese diehards but no serious incident developed.

When I left the colony Wednesday a few Jap stragglers still were roaming in the hills of the island carrying on sporadic sniping. At Kowloon, on the mainland across the bay, the Japs were behaving well.

The Chinese, who were hard pressed during the long enemy occupation, engaged in a certain amount of looting and on at least one occasion their hatred for the Japanese developed into violence. That was August 30 as the first British occupation force landed, when a Chinese crowd beat armed Jap soldiers to death in Hongkong streets. Preventive measures were taken quickly and no further outbreaks were reported.

The Japanese gendarmerie, equivalent of the German Gestapo, who were responsible for most of the cases of ill-treatment in Kowloon and Hongkong, were disarmed soon after the landing. Japanese soldiers were concentrated in specific areas although at the time I left, disarmament was not complete.

Armed air force personnel arrived aboard the liner Empress of Australia last Tuesday to reinforce the occupation force and the British patrol area was extended considerably in Kowloon. A protective guard also was placed on Samshuipo Camp, three miles from Kowloon, where 369 Canadian prisoners of war were liberated.

Brig. G. M. M. Kay, Canadian military attache at Chungking, sent to Ottawa from Hongkong a nominal roll of all Canadian prisoners there as well as comment on the health of individuals by medical officers. He also has sent to Ottawa the total number of servicemen moved since 1942 to camps in Japan, said by Lt.-Col. William J. Home of Quebec, commanding officer of Canadian prisoners in Samshuipo, to total 1,184.

Of 1,500 Canadian prisoners believed to be in Japanese hands more than 600 have been recovered, 300 in Japan and 369 in Kowloon. These groups are expected to reach Manila within a few days, a party of 33 already having arrived aboard the hospital ship Oxfordshire.

Col. R. S. Malone, director of public relations, Canadian Army in Manila, quoted this party as saying that more than 200 Canadians died while held in Jap prison camps, principally due, they said, to lack of medicine and medical attention.

21 Are Killed In Plane Crash

FLORENCE, S.C., Sept. 7 (AP).—Twenty-one persons were killed early today in the crash of an Eastern airline plane en route from Miami to New York, Betty Prier of The Florence News told The Associated Press.

All the passengers and crew members died in the crash and several of the bodies were badly burned, Miss Prier said, quoting witnesses who had returned from the scene of the crash.

The plane fell about 14 miles from here in a swampy section.

Still Searching For Dress Worn By Phyllis Stroud

City detectives are still searching for the flowered print dress worn by Phyllis Stroud on August 15 when she was murdered.

The remainder of the girl's costume and her purse were found by Detectives Angus Munro and Louis Callon near the lookout in Beacon Hill Park on information supplied to the department.

Analysis of a large number of articles are still being carried out by Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance, Vancouver criminologist, and will take several days to complete. Dr Vance is doing the work at his police department laboratory on the Mainland.

The fact that Charles Kinney, 17, will have no legal representation until action is taken following his mother's arrival from Halifax on Sunday makes it probable that another adjournment will be sought by the defence when the youth again faces Magistrate H. C. Hall next Tuesday for preliminary hearing on the murder charge.

His older brother, who is awaiting discharge from the navy, became Kinney's first visitor earlier this week. The brother will meet their mother, Mrs. Charles Kinney, at Vancouver tomorrow.

Charter Ratified In Australian House

CANBERRA, Sept. 7 (Reuters)—Australia's House of Representatives today unanimously ratified the United Nations Charter.

When full legislative action on the Charter is completed following Senate passage, Australia will be the second Dominion to ratify it. New Zealand's ratification came August 7 while Canada is to ratify the Charter during the present parliamentary session.

Description May Help to Catch Bandit

Keen observation of Mrs. Mary Goolden and her daughters, Ann and Gillian, may help capture the bandit who raided their Summer home off Sayward Road on Tuesday night and attempted to kidnap Gillian, 16, after tying both girls and robbing their mother of $12.

Additional details of the bandit's appearance gathered from the hold-up victims were reported to city police yesterday by Saanich police. The gunman, who lost his nerve and fled after trying to take away Gillian and hold her for $50,000 ransom, is described as follows:

About 50 years of age, six feet tall, thick-set, grey eyebrows, small blue-grey eyes, long sharp nose, blotchy complexion, very small hands, blotchy on the back, with fat, stubby fingers. He wore grey cap, dark grey overcoat with large brown buttons, grey trousers, red tie, and a blue shirt with a small pattern on it. He was armed with small, snub-nosed blue automatic, and drove an old car.

There are no new developments, according to Acting Chief Eric Elwell, Saanich police, but investigations continue.

New Agreement With Netherlands

UTRECHT, Holland, Sept 7 (CP).—Sources here indicated today the scope of a new agreement between the Canadian and Dutch Governments is to exceed by three times the present credit of $25,000,000 Holland enjoys in Canada.

Negotiations between ministries in The Hague, Paris and Ottawa are believed to be working towards cancellation of the current contract and its replacement by one which, besides helping to feed and clothe the Dutch, will enable them to arm and equip two infantry divisions and one armored division from Canadian Army supply dumps on the continent and in the United Kingdom.

Expected to Leave On Empress Liner

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—The Governor-General, whose term of office has expired and who is returning to England with Princess Alice, is expected to be aboard the liner Empress of Scotland when she clears from Quebec next week.

Also aboard the liner will be Major-General Georges P. Vanier, Canadian Ambassador to France.

Hungry Japanese Battling British

KANDY, Ceylon, Sept 7 (Reuters)—Two thousand well-armed but hungry Japanese, the biggest of four groups in Burma refusing to accept surrender, are clashing with British troops as they attempt to force their way across the Shwegyin Chaung River to get at the food in the well-stocked villages to the west.

This body, located between the Shwegyin Chaung and the Sitang River northeast of Rangoon, has made several unsuccessful attacks on British troops since the surrender announcement.

Orders Given On Surrender of Shanghai Area

SHANGHAI, Sept 5 (Delayed) (AP).—Lieut.-Gen. Chen Shu-Sun, representing the 3rd Chungking Army, handed instructions last night to Lieut.-Gen. Toli Minfu, deputy chief of the Japanese 13th Army, for the surrender of the Shanghai area.

A dispatch from Nanking said air movement of Chinese troops from Kwangsi Province to Shanghai probably would begin Sunday.

The Japanese delegates were permitted to wear their swords.

Shanghai, where a cup of coffee costs 15,000 puppet dollars, greeted with joy the sight of supplies flown in during the past few days, mainly for use of the 8,300 half-starved internees of seven camps in the area.

There are about 15,000 Jewish refugees from Central Europe here. They fled to Shanghai in 1937 during the Nazi blood purges and have been living in filthy ghettos since the Japanese occupation.

It has been estimated there are some 100,000 Japanese troops and 100,000 civilians in the area.

B.C. Seeks Delay in Argument Over Abolishing Appeal to Privy Council

The Provincial Government has asked the Federal Government to postpone until next Summer argument on whether the Dominion has the right to abolish appeal to the Privy Council.

Hon. R. L. Maitland, Attorney-General, said yesterday he had been asked by F. P. Varcoe, deputy minister of justice, whether he was ready to argue the problem now and in his reply he asked postponement.

The Supreme Court, Mr. Maitland explained, had ruled that the Dominion had the right to abolish appeal to the Privy Council by resolution of the House of Commons. The provinces, he continued, took the opposite view, holding that the Dominion Government lacks the jurisdiction and that if appeal is to be abolished it must be by amendment of the British North America Act.

"The point," Mr. Maitland stated, "is not whether appeal to the Privy Council should be abolished or not, but who has the right to abolish it."

He expressed the belief all the provinces would participate in the argument.

MacArthur Raises White House Flag Over Jap Capital

In Washington on Dec. 7, 1941, and Later Over Rome and Berlin Signifying Victory

TOKIO, Sept. 8 (Saturday) (AP).—General MacArthur covered the last mile of the long road back from defeat in the Philippines by entering Tokio today with occupation troops of the 1st Cavalry Division and raising the same United States flag which flew over Rome and Berlin. The Axis defeat was complete.

MacArthur made his triumphal entry in a three-mile parade of American mechanized military might through the heart of Tokio.

Japanese in downtown Tokio stared in silence as the parade, led by the 7th Regiment of the 1st Cavalry Division, moved from a point just east of the Emperor's Palace to the United States Embassy.

At the Embassy, MacArthur ordered Lt.-Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, whose Eighth Army is occupying Tokio and all Honshu to the north, to have the flag unfurled. It was the same flag which flew over the White House in Washington, D.C., on December 7, 1941.

The first mechanized units moved into the bomb-wrecked capital before 7 a.m. (3 p.m. PDT Friday).

They were the lead elements of first cavalry units to be swollen to 15,000 by Monday.

Reconnaissance groups moved past the Diet Building and moved on downtown near the point of MacArthur's scheduled arrival in the Marunouchi business district.

Jeeps and weapon-carriers drove up in front of Emperor Hirohito's Palace at 7.25 a.m., Tokio time.

Battle-equipped regiments of the 1st Cavalry Division marched through the bomb-shattered capital city of surrendered Japan, the first such march of a conqueror there in Japan's long history.

With occupation forces already holding strategic points from the south tip of Kyushu to Tokio, in Central Honshu, negotiations were underway for the American Navy to take over a Japanese base on the extreme north tip of Honshu.

Yesterday Rear Admiral Kanome, chief of staff of the Ominato naval base, led a Japanese delegation aboard the U.S.S. Panamint, flagship of Vice-Admiral Fletcher, off North Honshu.

The delegation opened discussions to transfer that base to Admiral Fletcher, whose warships moved to the assignment from the Aleutians. Ominato is nearly 400 miles north of Tokio.

Newly-Located Prisoners Contacted

ABOARD UNITED STATES 7TH FLEET FLAGSHIP, Sept 7 (AP).—The first direct contact has been established with a newly-located group of 1,721 Allied prisoners of war and internees in the Mukden area, Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid announces. The prisoners included 31 Canadian civilians.

Sidney Roofing Scene of Early Morning Blaze

Four hundred bales of cardboard, each weighing about 1,200 to 1,500 pounds, with a total value of approximately $2,700, were damaged by fire in the yards of the Sidney Roofing & Paper Company, Songhees Road, early this morning.

The alarm was turned in, according to the fire department, at 12.40 a.m. and three trucks responded. Flames at one time shot 250 feet in the air.

The blaze, which was under control by 2.15 a.m., after threatening about 750 tons of kraft pulp and paper waste, was believed to have been started by either spontaneous combustion or from a spark from a carloader which was in use at the time.

The alarm was turned in by Henry Goertzen, a boiler-room employee.

Delay Action On Bus Route

Further action by the Provincial Cabinet on the Fairfield-Gonzales bus service is unlikely pending an appeal to be taken by the Veterans Sightseeing and Transportation Co. Ltd., Premier John Hart said late yesterday. The Blue Line operators served notice of appeal from the decision of the Public Utilities Commission awarding the service to the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd.

The commission's decision was placed before the Cabinet yesterday morning, following procedure under which approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in council is required. Approval was withheld while the Attorney-General's Department considered whether action by the Cabinet should precede or follow the appeal of which notice had been given.

It is considered likely the appeal will go to the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP).—There were 50,326 deaths and 8,207 births registered in Berlin during May to July inclusive, Allgemeine Zeitung said today.

Frontier Incident

LONDON, Sept. 7 (Reuters).—A message from the Athens News Agency received in London tonight said shots have been exchanged in a frontier incident between Albanian and Greek troops.

Income Tax Cut By Australia

CANBERRA, Sept. 7 (CP).—Reduction in income tax amounting to approximately 12½ per cent in a full year and a cut in the sales tax were announced by Prime Minister Chifley today when he introduced the budget in the Australian House of Representatives.

Income tax will continue to be deducted at source from salaries and wages.

The budget provides for total expenditure of £492,000,000 ($1,600,000,000), including £360,000,000 for war expenditure. Of the total £340,000,000 will come from taxation and £152,000,000 from loans.

The reduction in sales tax will amount to £2,800,000 ($9,100,000) for a full year.

Former Prisoners Will Feel at Home

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—When former prisoners of the Japanese who were freed at Hongkong walk into the Canadian reception camp at Manila in the next few days they will walk into a home-like atmosphere as mess halls have been named Chateau Frontenac and Fort Garry, a message received here today said.

Streets of the camp have been named after outstanding thoroughfares in Quebec and Winnipeg, since most of the repatriates are from these two cities.

Fate of Quisling Rests With Jury; Declares He's Innocent

OSLO, Sept. 7 (AP)—The treason case against Vidkun Quisling went to a seven-man judge-jury panel today after he concluded a two-day oration in his own defence.

"If my activity has been treason as the records of this case charge then in the name of God I hope [illegible] sons will become the same kind of traitor as I without, however, being thrown into prison," the pale-faced former puppet dictator declared.

The verdict is not expected to be handed down before September 12.

Quisling had told the court that "Hitler took a deep liking for me and wanted me for other tasks in Europe."

The German-imposed Premier of Norway during the occupation said German leaders "knew more about our defences than our own officers."

He recounted his meeting with Hitler in December, 1939, a few months before Germany invaded Norway and said the Fuehrer talked of peace. But he said also that Germany would invade Norway ruthlessly should Norway's neutrality be violated, Quisling testified.

"Any charges that I gave Germany secret information are fantastic," he said. Words flowed swiftly from his lips.

He acknowledged meeting Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, German [illegible] said the conversation was "perfectly innocent" and had nothing to do with planning the invasion of Norway.

Quisling said he considered Russia justified in moving into the Prussian-populated eastern parts of Poland. But he added that Poland's fate was a frightful example of what could have happened to Norway, because, he said, he was convinced Russia wanted the northern provinces of Norway.

Praise for Canada On Flag Proposal

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (Saturday) (CP)—Commenting on the legislation proposed in the recent Throne Speech which would give Canada a national flag distinct from the Union Jack, The New York Herald Tribune today said editorially:

"Thus our neighbor to the [illegible] of full maturity, still a loyal member of the British Commonwealth but very much on her own, as a grown-up daughter should be. American congratulations are in order."

Expenditure Bill Tabled in House

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Notice of an appropriation bill for $1,365,000,000 for war and associated expenditures was given in today's Commons votes and proceedings. This is to cover the seven months from Sept. 1 to March 31, compared with the $2,000,000,000 passed last session to cover the first five months of the present fiscal year.

Last session's vote included mutual aid which ended with the termination of the war and this, to a considerable extent, accounts for the lower total in the new bill.

Legislation to cover export credit which will take over the place of mutual aid, will be provided, it is expected, in separate bills.

Provision also is made in the orders for an interim vote of $400,000,000 to cover the time from September 1 until the Appropriations Bill has passed Parliament.

"Tokio Rose"

[illegible]

"Tokio Rose," a Los Angeles-born American of Japanese ancestry, was identified in dispatches from Tokio as Iva Ikuko Toguri, 30-year-old graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles. In an interview with an American correspondent in Tokio Miss Toguri claimed that circumstances forced her into broadcasting on the Tokio radio's "zero hour" program.

Nazi War Criminal Attacks His Guard

NUERNBERG, Sept. 7 (AP)—One of the principal Nazi war criminal defendants being held for trial here attacked his guard in a city jail cell and a psychiatrist was called from Paris to examine the Nazi who was not identified, a security officer reported tonight.

He said the attack occurred when the prisoner refused to obey an order from the guard, then attacked the guard.

It was strictly a one-lunge fight though because the guard took good care of himself, the officer said.

The major defendants, including remnants of the Hitler hierarchy, are in solitary confinement under constant surveillance. Previously jailers termed conduct of the prisoners as "correct."

OAK BAY COUNCIL MEMBER OBJECTS

Councillor Alex Hope of Langley said he was opposed to voting on the resolution because he would be taking liberties not granted him as a delegate from his municipality. Councillor R. A. B. Wootten of Oak Bay was of the same opinion and severely criticized Mr. Gervin for "telling us it is our duty to pass this resolution."

"Everyone is going to suffer as a result of the end of the war," said Mr. Wootten, "but it is my opinion that we have gone as far as we can by permitting Mr. Turner to present his problems and we are not obliged to endorse the proposals. We are all aware that there is a problem before our council."

Finally Alderman Jones of Kelowna moved that the proposals be endorsed in principle and it was carried with only a few dissenting voices.

From Europe

The representatives of the centre parties have fallen away from the Government until it has become dependent on the right wing in support of it.

The Voulgaris Government owes its existence to British support, The Times says, and the British Government therefore has both the right and obligation to see policies are pursued which pave the way for restoration of political order and material well-being in Greece.

It was doubtful whether, under present political conditions, the results of elections scheduled for a month hence would be acceptable to the nation as a whole.

Shoots Large Cougar in East Sooke

THE mere sight of the above ferocious looking 145-pound cougar would cause most women to be petrified with fear, but not Mrs. J. Yates of R.R. 1, East Sooke. The animal shown in the photograph, which measures seven feet seven inches from nose to tail, is the tenth cougar she has killed with her .450 express rifle.

Mrs. Yates says that cougars, which in 1943 destroyed $1,500 worth of sheep in the Metchosin area and threatened many farmers with ruin, are again becoming "too many to be comfortable."

It took two shots to kill the tom cougar. Mrs. Yates said her first shot entered his nose and passed out just behind his eye, knocking him out of a tree. Her well-trained dog then chased him up another tree where he was killed by a well-placed shot in the shoulder.

The animal had evidently been in a fight with another cougar, Mrs. Yates said, because he had a hole in his ear and several scratches on his head.

A few of the crowd of admirers which swarmed around Mrs. Yates' car when she brought the animal into Victoria yesterday can be seen in the photograph.

Canadian Flyer Who Saved Ceylon Back in Yokohama

TOKIO, Sept. 7 (CP)—A Canadian wing commander who risked his life to give warning of a Japanese naval fleet steaming toward Ceylon in 1942 and was captured in the effort, today drove along the same streets in Yokohama as his Japanese torturers had made him stumble as a laborer.

"My goodness, what I suffered in these awful streets," he exclaimed as he drove along in a truck.

This dispatch did not give the names of the wing commander or of members of his crew.

The flyer, whose home is in the vicinity of St. Catharines, Ont., has lived under a veil of silence since April 4, 1942, yet he has the distinction of having been promoted from the rank of squadron leader to wing commander while in captivity.

Today he arrived from the Niigata prison camp with 230 prisoners of war, among whom were 26 Canadians, members of the Royal Rifles and the Winnipeg Grenadiers captured at Hongkong on Christmas Day, 1941. The wing commander explained that in November, 1941, he transferred to the R.A.F. and then was sent to Ceylon.

On April 4, 1942, while captaining a patrolling Catalina flying boat, he suddenly saw in the distance a huge Japanese fleet, which included seven carriers and eight battleships, headed for Ceylon.

He flashed a message to his base which resulted in the British fleet immediately heading to intercept the enemy and drive off the invaders. He then turned about to get a better idea of the composition of the armada.

He did not know he was on the fringe of Japanese fighter cover and without warning he suddenly found his Catalina attacked by 30 Zeros which in a few minutes sent his plane hurtling down in flames. One member of his crew was killed outright and two others were wounded.

Then the Jap flyers came down shooting at the struggling crew members in the water. He and the others were wounded in the legs.

A destroyer subsequently picked them up and later transferred them to an aircraft carrier, where for days despite their wounds, all were mercilessly grilled and beaten with two-by-four for refusing to answer the questions plied by intelligence officers.

The same treatment was continued in Yokohama, where he was taken. But when the Japanese heard of his promotion, they told him of it and then made him do coolie labor of the most back-breaking type.

Organized Hunt For Roving "Cats"

WEST VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP)—Irate citizens of West Vancouver have gone cougar hunting. Crack shot Pacific Coast Militia Rangers prepared today to launch an all-out offensive of the huge mountain lions which have moved in on this fair sized community just across the harbor from Vancouver.

There is a little too much of the "frontier" atmosphere around here for more than one West Vancouver resident who at one time or another has met up with one of these so-called "cats."

Within the last week nine cougars have been seen roaming the outskirts of the town. Three were killed a week ago. Six others have been haunting chicken coops, kidnapping dogs and generally making themselves objectionable.

Mrs. E. T. Nelson and her 13-year-old daughter Gertie were stalked last night by a cougar just after they got off the street car. The beast followed them for two blocks and they were forced to seek refuge in a nearby house.

Over in neighboring North Vancouver W. H. Bevin shot two cougars after setting up a home made trap for them in his chicken coop.

Over 18,000 Men Returning Aboard Four Transports

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Almost 18,000 army, navy and air force personnel from the United Kingdom will reach Canada during the week-end on four big transports which are due to dock at the port of Halifax and Quebec City.

Of the total number returning 14,799 are army personnel, 2,424 are members of the R.C.A.F. and the remainder navy and miscellaneous services personnel including some British.

A Defence Headquarters statement also announced that a "baby flat-top" is due to reach Montreal September 8 and another September 12, each carrying 57 returning members of the Canadian forces.

The four transports due at the week-end are the Empress of Scotland at Quebec September 8 carrying 4,112; Cameronia at Quebec September 10 carrying 3,526; Duchess of Bedford at Halifax September 9 carrying 3,066 and the Nieuw Amsterdam at Halifax September 10 carrying 7,712.

Believes Victims of Atomic Bomb Injury Can Be Cured

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—A Tokio radio broadcast last night said that Dr. Masao Tsuzuki, a professor at Tokio Imperial University and Japan's leading authority on anatomy and pathology, is confident that a majority of moderately injured victims of the atomic bomb can be cured.

As a result of extensive scientific research and experiments carried on by Dr. Tsuzuki, the broadcast said, new hope has been found for the citizens of Hiroshima who have been living in dread since the August 6 atomic bomb raid on that city.

The broadcast was recorded by The Associated Press.

Dr. Tsuzuki said some injuries resulted from some strong force, as yet unknown even to scientists, the radio continued. Dr. Tsuzuki attributed this type to radio activity caused by the effect of neutrons and gamma rays of radium, or else the X-rays. Although the latter two rays decrease in effectiveness in proportion to the distance they travel and are absorbed by structures such as concrete buildings, neutron rays penetrate anything and therefore may injure a person in a building or even an air-raid shelter.

Find Support for Compulsory Training During Peacetime

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Peacetime conscription—long the basis for Continental military power—seems destined for a larger role in the world's postwar military establishments.

A survey today revealed official [illegible] of) military [illegible] Great Britain, Canada and New Zealand—all powers which depended upon voluntary enlistment to maintain their modest military strength before the Second Great War.

Canada is keeping informed upon the discussion of peacetime training in the United States, with the possibility that if the United States adopts such a program Canada would follow suit.

Basis of the possibility that Canada would follow suit if the United States adopts peacetime training was not mentioned in the dispatch.

The historic opposition of the French section of Canada to conscription, which resulted in a national crisis in both Great Wars, was directed not so much against conscription as against conscription for an overseas war which the French group declared to be imperialist.

Canadian proponents of a peacetime draft favor several weeks or months of training annually on a universal basis. Already certain Canadian universities have announced compulsory officers training courses.

At present the Canadian draft law is such that men were conscripted only for service on the North American continent with the exception of 16,000 ordered overseas last December and January. Other troops overseas were volunteers.

Australia, which had peacetime conscription for national defence only, plans to continue on the same basis. Holland contemplates no changes in her present compulsory military service laws before 1948.

France, which puts every physically-qualified man of 21 into uniform for two years unless he is a navy or air force volunteer, intends to continue that policy.

The British Cabinet is known to be discussing peacetime compulsory military training. Several ministers in the Labor Government are committed to peacetime conscription, including Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Pending a Cabinet decision Britain continues to draft men from 18 to 30 to replace those released through demobilization.

MARRIAGES INCREASE

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP)—Marriages in Vancouver during August showed a marked increase over the number of marriages in the same month in 1944, the Department of Vital Statistics revealed here today.

There were 428 marriages compared with 337 in August, 1944. Total marriages so far this year is 2,978 compared with 2,771 for the same period in 1944.

Allied Prisoners Fly From Japan

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 7 (Reuters)—American planes now are evacuating Allied prisoners of war from Japan [illegible] estimated practically all Allied prisoners in the Japanese islands will be on their way home within a month. British, Australian, Canadian, South African and other Empire prisoners unfit to travel by plane or ordinary service transport are being loaded in The Netherlands hospital ship Tjitjalengka at Yokohama.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (AP)—The total of strikers idle in the United States mounted today to 110,000, highest in months, as President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor declared labor's no-strike pledge ended with Japan's surrender.

In Washington Mr. Green told reporters he could not accept President Truman's request for continuance of the wartime "No-strike, no-lockout policy," but "we will try to work out some understanding with management to minimize work stoppages."

Shouted "Gestapo"

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP)—Albert C. Genge, who admitted shouting "Gestapo" at service police, was fined $20 or 10 days in jail by Magistrate MacKenzie Matheson in police court here today.

Genge contended that when he was in the Veterans Guard recently, the prisoners called service police "Gestapo" and they thought nothing of it [illegible] fact Genge had been drinking saved him from a severe penalty and added that "the military police cannot be subjected to that sort of thing."

Gathering Evidence Against Japs of Brutalities in War

SINGAPORE, Sept. 7 (AP).—Administrative personnel among the newly-liberated prisoners of war here are completing exhaustive dossiers indicting their former Japanese guards of almost unbelievable physi- [illegible]

A long list of crimes, including brutal killings, are being documented with names and dates as an authentic record against the individual Japanese.

While two Japanese soldiers man the sentry box at the gates giving unanswered salutes to passers-by, the administrators inside the Sime Road internment camp prepare the evidence. It chiefly concerns an alleged spy plot by prisoners in Changi Jail and Japanese retaliations.

The Japanese inquisition started October 10, 1943, when 57 prisoners of war were segregated. The trial ended only a week ago, when the Japanese knew their end was near.

The Japanese accused the prisoners of maintaining a spy organization inside the Changi walls to stir Malayan residents to sabotage and "anti-Japanese feeling." They charged the alleged spy ring had financial backing from outside and communicated by radio-telephonic instruments. The released prisoners say the charges were false, but that they actually did obtain outside funds to supplement the Japanese starvation diet with black market purchases.

Screams came from the torture chambers during "interrogations" as a result of beating with iron bars, [illegible] knotted ropes, belts with buckles and pistol butts. These were part of the ordinary punishment, as distinguished from special brutalities.

Victims sometimes were strung up or forced to kneel on sharp pieces of wood or iron. One who died had been interrogated and beaten intermittently for more than 144 hours. There were water tortures and burnings with cigarettes on the most sensitive parts of the body, according to documented evidence. Some Asiatics were soaked in gasoline and burned as human torches. There also was a special shock disintegration of the nerves and physique.

The Japanese used their victims for ju-jitsu practice. Some were advised to write farewell letters and all arrangements were made for their executions. Then it was called off and threats were made against their families. One committed suicide but was subjected to interrogation even while dying.

Among the 57 prisoners of war segregated for nearly two years, 12 died of sickness resulting directly from ill treatment and one was executed.

Three others died in solitary confinement without medical attention.

The 48th Highlanders of Canada, Toronto, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Picton, Trenton and Belleville, Ont., the Royal Canadian Regiment, London, Ont., St. Johns, Que., and Halifax, the 3rd, 4th and 33rd Field Companies, Royal Canadian Engineers, the 2nd Field Park Company, R.C.E., the 3rd and 13th Batteries, Royal Canadian Artillery, the 5th Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, R.C.A.

Gift of $100,443 To Maimed Flyer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 7 (AP).—Private Jimmy Wilson, the young flyer who lost both arms and both legs in a plane crash, sat dazed and silent when he learned admiring Americans contributed $100,443 to guarantee his future.

He remained motionless in his wheel chair unable to speak. The stumps of his hands twitched as he lit a cigarette with artificial limbs. Then he shook his head in bewilderment.

"I still can't believe it," the Stark, Fla., soldier said. "I reckon a fellow never finds out how wonderful people are until something like this happens."

The fund, raised through voluntary contributions in a coast-to-coast newspaper solicitation by The Philadelphia Inquirer Charities, Inc., will be temporarily placed in Government securities until a suitable trust can be arranged to guarantee Jimmy a steady life income.

Jap Commander Boasts of Return

JOHORE, Sept. 7 (AP).—The Sultan of Johore told correspondents today that the Japanese commander of Singapore, Lt.-Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, declared to him a few days ago that he expected to return to the British naval base about 20 years hence.

"We hope the peace will last for 20 years and then we will be back here again," the sultan quoted Gen. Itagaki as saying.

Johore lies across a narrow strait from Singapore.

The sultan said former Premier Tojo of Japan visited Singapore two years ago and asserted that Winston Churchill, then Britain's Prime Minister, "would have to come to him on bended knees."

Ask Government To Run Plants

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP).—Officials of the Aeronautical Lodge 756 (A.F.L.) today asked the Federal Government to take over and operate the three Boeing Aircraft plants which have been closed here.

Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe has expressed his desire to keep war plants running and now he should make good this reported desire, said one union spokesman.

The union has also asked Mayor J. W. Cornett to protest the closure to the Federal Government.

In Seattle today Mayor William Devin wired a vigorous protest to President Truman against yesterday's abrupt termination of Boeing Aircraft contracts in that city. Mayor Devin said the cancellations threw 22,000 persons out of work in 15 minutes.

In Vancouver 2,300 persons were thrown out of work yesterday with the closure of the plants. An additional 2,300 had received their termination notices previously.

Released Allied Prisoners Start Journey Homeward

By The Associated Press

Thousands of sick and weary but joyous Allied prisoners of war are being shepherded from Japanese camps of bitter memory to embarkation points for homeward journeys.

Their tales of brutal treatment—common to all—are being told to "atrocity officers" accompanying the liberation teams. These officers, questioning the freed men as they travel toward evacuation centres, are making a record of their mistreatment, from which will be compiled names of Japanese guards and others to be held responsible.

Already about 9,000 have been liberated and transported to Yokohama, there, after treatment for disease and ailments incurred in captivity, they are rushed homeward, some by ship and others by plane.

At American headquarters in Manila it was announced that at least 1,000 prison atrocity cases already have been prepared there, naming several thousand Japanese who are slated for trial as war criminals.

American authorities yesterday began full-scale evacuation of an estimated 5,000 American and British prisoners from about 12 camps in the Kobe-Osaka-Kyoto region of Southern Honshu, main Japanese home island.

United States Third Fleet prisoner of war recovery teams completed evacuation of some 5,800 prisoners from Nagoya and Hamamatsu on the southern coast of Honshu and from Niigata on the western coast.

Plans are ready for joint army-navy evacuation of 3,860 prisoners from the Senadi area on Honshu's eastern coast.

A Kobe group included Americans, British captured at Hongkong, Dutch, Greek and Chinese. They said about a fourth of their original number failed to survive their first Winter at Kobe. At Japanese direction, they added, the dead were rolled to a crematorium in barrels.

While the question of war crimes is principally a War Department responsibility, Eighth Army officers are taking steps in the Yokohama area as prisoners arrive to supplement the work of War Department personnel. No arrests have yet been reported, and no definite policy on war crimes has been announced.

Asks When War Is Officially Ended

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—Rev. E. G. Hansell (Social Credit, Macleod) asked in the Commons today when the formal Government announcement would be made that the war was officially over, and said he wanted to know the arrangements for the termination of wartime agreements like mutual aid.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said he would take notice of Mr. Hansell's question and would reply at another time.

At the same time, Wing Cmdr. R. H. Merrifield, D.S.O., D.F.C. and Bar, of Southampton, England, said that he hoped to set a West-East mark on the return flight. The present record, held by an R.A.F. Mosquito, is five hours 38 minutes.

Black Market Hits Japanese

TOKIO, Sept. 7 (AP).—The black market and inflation are running rampant in Tokio and the rest of Japan since the war ended.

Despite Government efforts to maintain pegged prices, Japanese are paying exorbitant sums for precious foodstuffs such as rice, sugar, salt and butter.

Even if you have the yen, which under occupation regulations is worth about 15 to one United States dollar, it is no guarantee that you can get food or clothing. Many articles are unobtainable at any prices.

Things like butter and salt are almost out of the question. But if you are lucky enough to run into someone who has them for sale you might get a pound of butter for 100 yen, and a pound of salt for 50 to 100 yen.

Before the war butter sold for two yen a pound and salt for six or seven sen. (100 sen make one yen.)

Here are examples of some prices before and during the war with prewar prices listed first:

Forty pounds of rice, 30 yen and 2,000 yen.

Japanese whisky, 30 yen and 2,000 yen.

A pound of potatoes, 20 sen and three yen.

A pound of wheat flour, 50 sen and 30 yen.

A pound of beef, one yen and 40 yen.

One fryer chicken, seven yen and 100 yen.

Bar chocolate, 10 sen and 20 to 30 yen.

Cotton shirt, 10 yen and 70 yen.

Pair socks, three yen and 40 to 60 yen.

Light car, 8,000 yen and 45,000 yen.

Retain Cowichan Land

The Provincial Cabinet yesterday placed a reserve on the much-publicized "Lot 11" Cowichan to hold it for public use.

The covering order in council was placed before the Cabinet yesterday by Hon. E. T. Kenney, Minister of Lands and Forests, on recommendation of Hon. R. L. Maitland, Attorney-General. The land formerly owned by a lumber company, includes a mile of waterfront on the Cowichan River famous fishing stream.

The land reverted to the Crown when the lumber company went out of business, and under the governing laws it was necessary for the Government to advertise it for sale. The money forwarded by tenderers in response to the Government advertisement will be returned to them.

Think Hitler Cruising on Luxury Boat

HAMBURG, Sept. 7 (AP).—A mysterious handsomely-appointed, 90-foot yacht is being widely sought in [illegible] aboard it.

The search, which has covered every islet and inlet of the Schleswig-Holstein coast, got new impetus in recent days as British security police took official cognizance of persistent rumors that Hitler and his deputy fuehrer, Martin Bormann, were in the Hamburg area in early May.

A recent broadcast reported to have been picked up in Sweden and purporting to come from Bormann, declared Hitler was in Germany, alive and in good health.

British investigators have discovered that equipment taken aboard the missing yacht in the weeks just before Germany's collapse included two radio transmitters.

The yacht, described as Diesel-powered and luxurious, is reported by dock workers to have sailed early in May from the small Elbe River port of Gluckstadt, 30 miles northwest of Hamburg. There the trail ends.

Seek Investigation

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 7 (CP).—Appointment of a Royal Commission to "investigate and fix the responsibility" for the explosion and fire at Saskatchewan Pool Elevator No. 5, August 7, was urged last night in a resolution passed at a special meeting of the Port Arthur Trades and Labor Council.

To Announce Date Of Meat Rationing

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—Canadians have been given most of the details of the Government's plan for reintroduction of meat rationing except the effective date, but indications were tonight that its beginning would be announced early next week.

The meat rationing announcement, when it comes, will probably be made in a broadcast by Donald Gordon, chairman of the Prices Board, which will supervise the plan.

Indications it would be made soon were seen in a recent Prices Board request to meat dealers to make immediate application for the blue tokens, to be used in Canada for the first time. They will be used to make "change" on ration coupons.

The new ration will allow every Canadian about two pounds of meat, carcass weight, a week, or about one and one-third pounds of actual meat. Carcass weight is meat with the bone left in.

Prices Board officials have stressed the fact that the sole factor in deciding on reimposition of meat rationing was so Canada could ship more meat to Britain—where the ration is the lowest in history—and to help feed meat-starved Europe.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP).—Lord Keynes, advisor to the Exchequer, arrived in Washington today from Montreal for the Anglo-American financial discussions scheduled to begin next Monday.

He was met at the station by British Embassy officials and declined to comment on the forthcoming talks which Britain hopes will find a peacetime substitute for lend-lease.

Lord Keynes and the Earl of Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, who is scheduled to arrive by plane Monday, will head a delegation of British financial experts who will confer with Will Clayton, Assistant Secretary of State, Treasury Secretary Fred Vinson and Commerce Secretary Henry Wallace.

Ships Ordered for Britain Scrapped

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP).—In three Vancouver shipyards today workmen with acetylene torches cut up for scrap the 345-foot steel hulls of six ships which had been ordered by the British Admiralty for war use at a cost of about $12,000,000.

At least two of the vessels, which are transport ferries, were within two weeks of launching when orders to halt work on them came immediately after "V-J" Day.

Each hull contains approximately 1,500 tons of steel which may be turned over to the War Assets Corporation for disposal.

Orders have come from the Federal Government to "burn" for scrap two more transports on the ways at North Van Ship Repairs.

Two of the ferries already headed for the scrap heap are off the ways at Burrard Drydock Co. Two more ferries are being cut up on the ways at Burrard's North yard.

When the job is done the War Assets Corporation will have 8,000 tons of scrap steel for disposal.

Howe Announces End of Car Pool

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—Munitions Minister Howe announced today that the Wartime Industrial Transit Plan, which placed car pooling on a systemized basis and provided essential transportation for thousands of war workers and establishments of the armed forces, will be abolished September 15.

The plan was initiated in 1942 by Canada's Transit Control organization and worked out in co-operation with the oil and rubber controllers. It placed car pooling on a systemized basis in more than 2,800 plants with a total payroll of 1,000,000 employees, of whom 220,000 were dependent on the plan for transportation to and from their jobs.

The plan permitted certain approved plants and military establishments to choose a number of employee owner-drivers of passenger cars whose responsibility it was to provide the transportation needs of fellow workers in getting to and from work. The owner-drivers were entitled to special gasoline, tire and repair privileges.

Plan Changes In Education For Manitoba

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7 (CP).—Education Minister J. C. Dryden today outlined before the special session of the Manitoba Legislature plans [illegible] school matriculation course before entering university, the introduction of technical subjects in general high school course and the development of a practical arts department embracing both academic and technical subjects.

The plans, as proposed at the Dominion-Provincial Conference at Ottawa last month, also includes increases in teachers' salaries, composite schools and scientific technical education. It would increase the provincial budget by $4,133,000 from $2,818,041 to include building estimates, incorporating repairs, renovations, additions and replacements.

At present Grade 12 in Manitoba schools is equivalent to the first year in university. Mr. Dryden said the Dominion felt that students entering university after Grade 11 were immature and the extra compulsory year of high school would fit them better to the demands of a college course.

The extra educational advantage to the students who did not plan to enter college or university would raise study levels, and would permit the introduction of technical subjects to their course.

The high school course also would include agriculture, commercial subjects and home economics with an annual cost of $1,500,000 to cover 30 schools.

A minimum basic salary of $1,500 a year for primary and $2,200 a year for secondary schools was the proposed rate for teachers' pay.

Jewish New Year Ceremonies Held

At sundown last night members of Victoria's Jewish community and orthodox Jews throughout the world began celebration of the traditional services of the Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashono. The ceremonies will last for two days.

Services in the Jewish Synagogue here were conducted last night by Rev. H. R. Toft, assisted by J. H. Narod.

The blowing of the Shofor or ram's horn, as a call to repentance, was a part of the picturesque services for the New Year.

Samuel Bronfman, national president of the Canadian Jewish Congress, and also the Minister of National Defence for Canada, have issued greetings to the Jewish communities.

A notice issued by the Commission on Information About Judaism outlines the significance of the celebration as follows:

"This year the celebration will be of more than ordinary significance because the ideal of the Jewish holy days is the ideal on which the entire Judaeo-Christian ethical character of our Western civilization is based, an ideal of peace to those that are far and to those that are near.

"According to Jewish tradition, Rosh Hashono is the anniversary of the creation of the world. This day ushers in the 10 penitential days during which time Jews seek to make peace with themselves, with their God and with their neighbors."

Five Foreign Ministers

The London meeting of five Foreign Ministers may or may not pave the way for the peace parleys of the world. It will be of interest, however, for its own sake. It is not often, outside of war, that even three Foreign Ministers have sat down at the same table at the same time. Next week when the conference opens five of them will foregather, and with express instructions to agree where that is humanly possible. There, in spite of the present day Cassandras, is an encouraging sign. It implies the open-face method of doing business between nations and there is nowhere a better method.

In this instance the Foreign Ministers will represent the major powers on victory's side in the war, the sponsors of the United Nations organization, the guarantors for the good behavior of Germany and Japan respectively, and those nations which will have permanent seats on the new Security Council. What may be special about their agenda will develop later, but it is certain that these five gentlemen will have a great deal in common.

Heretofore, the human world seems to have staggered along from century to century by a process of emphasizing its differences. The globe has been rendered so small now, through modern means of communication and otherwise, that the world is learning that it must emphasize its concurrences, and to be glad where these are broad and far-reaching. That is the case at the moment, and there is no reason why it should not continue to be the rule until the General Assembly of the United Nations picks up its full task—that of preserving a peace which will then have been restored. And happily today there will be no "armistices."

Worth Considering

Unless the Dominion Government have totally lost their capacity to listen to the people the suggestion made this week by the Victoria Association of Meat Dealers on the issue of meat rationing is one that deserves earnest consideration and a fair answer. It has the earmarks of being a sensible, workable plan. Conceding that meat should be conserved in Canada to help with world food shortages, the butchers propose that control be established at the distributing points, and that they and the public agree voluntarily to get along on 80 per cent of the actual volume of meat sold in Canada last year.

Such a plan would have much to commend it. It would dispense with coupons and "tokens"—a weird and extraordinary form of quasi money. It would cut red tape. It would put the public on its honor to actually reduce the consumption of meat, not only on "meatless days" but also on every day in the week. It would free the everyday processes of trading. It would clear the banks, now cluttered up with needless token change. Above all, it would save 20 per cent of the volume of meat normally consumed in this country. The Government by rationing could hardly hope to do more, if as much.

The war, whatever the official proclamations, is ending. There is not more warrant, but less, for the continuance of red tape in any form. The public expects to help with the problems of Europe, but does not need to be badgered into doing what it quite cheerfully would volunteer. Also—but perhaps this would not be popular with the office holders—if the voluntary plan worked as we believe that it would it would prove superior to the whole policy of rationing.

It is strange, finally, to find a Government wedded to "voluntary" service in the field, and denying it at home. The dealers' proposal deserves honest consideration on its merits. It has many, including public subscription and support.

Twentieth Parliament

The first session of the newly chosen Twentieth Parliament of Canada opened on Thursday at Ottawa. It is a very different Parliament than its predecessor, one in which the overwhelming majority of the Administration has disappeared. The people of Canada are looking to this assembly to do certain basic things. They expect the Twentieth Parliament to resume all of its rights, including those of making laws and authorizing taxation. They expect that their several constituencies will once more have a voice in governance. They expect a reduction in the much swollen civil service, and a material lessening in bureaucracy and its resulting red tape. Moreover, they expect that the Administration will be far more responsive to Parliament than during the war period it was.

Of the Government's program there is not much yet that can be ventured. Mr. Mackenzie King has pledged the reduction of wartime controls where possible. He has presented notice of an interim Supply Bill of $1,365,000,000, covering a seven-month period. The Speech from the Throne has indicated some at least, of the waiting legislation, coupled with a good deal of assertion as to the process of reconversion and on other matters. But the really significant fact is that this Parliament is not the same as the last one; nor need it be led blindfold over every jump the Administration desires to take.

If democracy is to fulfill its true function in Canada, Parliament must take back its ancient, established rights. Laws enacted for the people as a whole must be made in Parliament, and not outside of it by order-in-council. Taxation must be the taxation that the House agrees upon, and no longer the interpretation that is put on it by the Treasury from tax bills written in blank. In short, of this Parliament is expected the primary protection of all parliaments where democracy is used and not abused.

There is a good deal of sweeping up to be done in Canada at the war's end. There are many visible leaks to plug after the spending of war billions in a hurry. There is a serious task ahead in the resettlement of those who fought for us and who are now coming home. Internally and externally, Canada has some serious thinking to do, and a steady course to be laid down and carried out. Her people are capable of anything, but they must be shown due and just cause. It will be Parliament's obligation to hold the balance steady; to see that the people reassume their vacated rights, and that the true function of Government—leadership—is given to this nation.

Two Figures

Two figures, reportedly used by Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Provincial Minister of Public Works and Municipal Affairs, in his address before the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at Qualicum this week, will not be any great surprise to the people of this province. One was $12,000,000, in round terms the amount that the Dominion hands back to this province out of annual income tax collections made within our borders. The other figure was the $146,000,000, which Mr. Anscomb said the Dominion took out of British Columbia last year in wartime revenues.

If that comparison is a just one—and Mr. Anscomb is an accountant by profession—it would seem to crystallize what is at stake in the Federal proposal that the provinces surrender their income taxes in return for subventions and other concessions. British Columbia, with a large rugged and sparsely populated area, has always been a costly territory to administer. Proportionately, it has to spend more per capita to get the same result than most, at least, of the other provinces do. Its mainstay has been the income tax. If that goes what precisely will take its place? There is the question posed by these two figures in such glaring contrast.

Concede that the Dominion needed the money for war purposes. Concede, also, that British Columbia supplied her men, her wealth and her every effort to that same end, and did it gladly. Where does that take us in peace? So long as the provinces maintain separate establishments they will require revenues. If the day comes when the provinces themselves disappear, then we will have totally centralized Government. Some favor that and others do not. In between, there are many individuals who see these times as unripe for such a move. Yet in so far as they have been explained the Federal proposals bear distinctly in that direction. Well, Mr. Anscomb has given us two figures to remember, one 12 times as large as the other.

Missing Persons

No little injustice is done to the police and to the ordinary processes of the law by those who rail indiscriminately at delay in the discovery of missing persons. It must be borne in mind that some individuals are missing because they wish to appear so. They leave their homes and leave no forwarding address. And this happens somewhere in an urban community almost every day of the week. At that point the law cannot assume that foul play is the cause. Most often such occurrences have a natural enough explanation. Any police blotter in any Canadian city would furnish hundreds of examples. In the exceptional instance where foul play has taken place the authorities are impotent until it has come to light. Then and then only, can the full weight of the law be brought to bear on any case. That sometimes means a slow start in the unraveling of a crime. The important thing however is not the start but the finish. The law must be upheld or its authority weakens. In that, results count.

Seen in Passing

One supposes that for a number of years to come Hitler will "be seen" at various places and always in the act of flight. Quite rightly, every such suggestion must be traced down, to make sure of what may be in it. On the other hand if Count Bernadotte of Sweden is correct the Nazis themselves thought Hitler was dead—with what warrant no one has been able to make out. One thing is reasonably clear, and that is that Hitler did not immolate himself to the strains of Wagnerian music.

Hate

My enemy came nigh
And I
Stared fiercely in his face
My lips went writhing back in a grimace.
And stern I watched him from a narrowed eye
Then as I turned away,
My enemy
That bitter heart, and savage, said to me:

—Some day when this is past,
When all the arrows that we have are cast,
We may ask one another why we hate
And fail to find a story to relate
It may seem to us then a mystery
That we could hate each other—
Thus said he, and did not turn away
Waiting to hear what I might have to say

But I fled quickly fearing if I stayed
I might have kissed him as I would a maid

THE SOCIAL AND POLITICAL CONSEQUENCES OF POTSDAM—I

Many things—the most important—are left open to the Potsdam communique, such as the German-Polish frontiers, and the manner of exchanging populations. In fact, the Polish "Provisional Government" and the Red Armies are taking over the area east of the Oder and Neisse, and getting rid of the German population. Mr. Truman spoke of being informed that there were still some 1,500,000 Germans in this area. Mr. Churchill expressed concern about the others.

The German population of these territories was, in 1925, around 12,000,000, the highest Allied estimate of the numbers who have fled into the British and American zones is 4,000,000. This is probably exaggerated. But even this leaves perhaps 6,500,000 unaccounted for. If this area is depopulated and resettled before the peace conference, how will the conference be able to change matters?

If one is critical of such things, it is attributed to German sympathies. I have never seen a German state I admired and I advocated immediately after the last war the dissolution of the Reich in a European confederation of the Swiss model.

But the issue is whether wholesale deportations of men, women and children, to unknown destinations is or is not "extermination" and "slavery," in which we have given our word of honor not to engage. The questions are whether we want to concur in the principle that helpless peoples should be without any protections imposed by the moral inhibitions of their conquerors; what the eventual effect of such inhuman policies will have on our own minds and on the prestige of democracy anywhere on earth, whether two wrongs make a right, or whether only might makes right.

It was opposition to the latter concept which furnished the moral support for our war, and I do not see how the Allies can re-educate Germans against what they practise themselves.

I should be a craven seeker after cheap popularity if I suppressed my concern, or failed to warn that nations which abandon their principles and ideals abroad, seldom maintain them long at home.

The manner of collecting reparations in kind also demands consideration both of its justice and its results. The Soviets may take from Germany any machinery in their zone which they adjudge unnecessary for peacetime production. In addition, the Western Allies have agreed to exchange from their zones 15 per cent of existing machinery against deliveries of food, etc., from the Russian zone, and deliver 10 per cent outright subject only to judgment of what is necessary to maintain a subsistence living standard.

This will inevitably mean the accelerated disintegration of the entire European economy with serious repercussions upon our own. It also will have radical social results.

Payments in kind were successfully collected from the defeated nations after the last war. But they were assessed against the enemy states, which devised their own means of compensating for and delivering them.

Stripping German industries by the present method does not collect reparations from the German state or people. It amounts to the forcible expropriation of a certain class.

I cannot understand the mentality of the Churchill or Attlee Governments, or our own, in agreeing to what is, actually a form or degree of Bolshevization by the military. Mr. Attlee's Britain favors the socialization of British basic industries, with compensation to the owners in due process of law. I would not attack such a development in Germany were the impetus to come from the German people. But we are establishing the principle that a victor has the right of expropriation of private enterprises and property without adjustment, and this principle is not halting in application with German frontiers.

Though Austria has been promised "freedom and independence," in the Russian zone she is being systematically looted of everything—machines, cattle, jewelry and household furniture—and again it is not the Austrian state which is paying reparations within a taxation scheme, but individuals, arbitrarily selected for expropriation.

The same thing is happening everywhere east of the Oder, and suddenly the victors are embarrassed, when it is applied to the properties of their own nationals—General Motors, Ford, I T & T or in Yugoslavia the copper mines of Bor, formerly owned by French stockholders. But what principle is operating that would not apply to all industries that contributed to the Axis war effort?

And in a different way, it is not only happening east of the Oder. The Western Allies do not want old machinery, but they are on a successful treasure hunt for private properties much more valuable—scientific formulae.

All this can only mean violent disintegration, the extinction of legal property rights, added to the elimination of human rights—i.e., lawlessness. It will inevitably create that social, economic and spiritual chaos favorable to seizure of power by the most ruthless individuals and parties, the moment the Allies withdraw their troops.

Why, then, do we support it? Frankly, I do not know.

Germany's Surrender Negotiations Recounted

Part III

By COUNT FOLKE BERNADOTTE
North American Newspaper Alliance

I shall not easily forget the night of April 23-24, with its uncanny feeling of impending disaster. Himmler arrived at the Luebeck branch of the Swedish Legation about half an hour before midnight immediately after the sirens sounded their warning.

During the hour we spent in the air-raid shelter he struck me as being utterly exhausted and in a very nervous state.

When the "all clear" sounded we went upstairs. It was now about half an hour after midnight and as the electricity was not working, a couple of candles illuminated our "conference table."

The head of the Gestapo began by saying that Hitler was probably dead and that if not, he would be within the next few days. The Fuehrer had gone to Berlin to die with the inhabitants of the capital. Berlin was surrounded, and it was only a question of a few days, Himmler said, before it would fall.

"I admit that Germany is beaten," Himmler said. He then touched on the importance of creating a Hitler legend which, after the fall of the Third Reich, would play the same part as the "stab in the back" phrase after the peace of Versailles.

If the Allied Nations had the intention of crushing the German people, Himmler said, then Hitler would come to be regarded as the greatest of their heroes.

All I, personally, have experienced and learned has firmly convinced me that the myth that Hitler died fighting on the barricades of his capital must be destroyed once and for all.

Adolf Hitler was in the spring of 1945 a psychologically and physically sick man. A heroic act was the last thing of which he was capable. His decision to stay in Berlin was almost certainly due to his knowledge that, whatever happened, only a short time remained for him to live.

The accounts of his last heroic fight are pure myth. He died like a hunted man, and as a cowardly man, as cowardly as all his henchmen showed themselves in the days of the break-up.

The conference went on.

"I consider my hands free," Himmler said. "In order to save as great a part of Germany as possible from a Russian invasion, I am willing to capitulate on the Western Front. But I am not prepared to capitulate on the Eastern Front."

I told him "You can take it for granted that England and America will not make any separate settlements with Germany."

"All the same, I want to make the attempt," Himmler said.

I asked Himmler what he proposed to do if he received a negative reply.

"In such a case I shall take over the command on the Eastern Front and be killed in battle." But he did not carry out his intention.

Finally, I asked him to write a short letter to the Swedish Minister for Foreign Affairs, Christian Guenther, as evidence that Himmler really desired to make the necessary contact through me.

This, Himmler declared after he had done so, was the bitterest day in his life.

On my arrival in Stockholm on April 24, I immediately called at the Foreign Office. A meeting was held later that evening at which were present the British Minister, Sir Victor Mallet, the American Minister, Herschel Johnson, the permanent Under-Secretary of State, and myself.

The two foreign diplomats pointed out that it was most unlikely that their Governments would agree to Himmler's proposal, and that they must necessarily confer with the Moscow Government.

Two days passed. During the evening of April 26, the American reply signed by President Truman, arrived. I went at once to the American Legation.

"A German offer of surrender will only be accepted on condition that it is complete on all fronts as regards Great Britain, the Soviet Union as well as the U.S.A."

It was decided that I should leave without delay, meet Schellenberg and hand him the answer. On April 27, I flew to Odense, where I gave Schellenberg the Western Powers' reply. At first it seemed to make him very depressed.

The following day, I heard my name mentioned on Radio Atlantic. Reports from London and New York said I had opened negotiations with Himmler for a German capitulation. My first thought was that this had spoiled everything.

I have since altered my views. The publicity which my negotiations received was to be decisive.

Himmler had from the beginning been chosen to be leader of the German Reich in the event of Hitler's death. But with the publication of Himmler's surrender bid, Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz was chosen to be the leader instead. It is doubtful if the Allies could ever have negotiated with Himmler. With Doenitz, it was far easier.

Schellenberg returned to Odense. On April 29, after seeing Himmler at a place north of Bremen, Himmler was furious over the publicity given in England and America to our negotiations, he said. At one moment he had threatened to arrest Schellenberg as the one who, with me, had induced him to begin negotiations for surrender.

May 1 came, and with it the news for which millions had for years been waiting and longing. Hitler was dead.

Doenitz announced "The Fuehrer has appointed me to be his successor."

For me, this meant that the points of departure of my negotiations had been shifted.

Himmler was no longer in a dominating position. And Doenitz urged Germany to fight on.

However, the situation changed rapidly. On May 4 I was told that Doenitz had decided to surrender.

At 10 o'clock on the morning of May 5, Schellenberg arrived in Stockholm by special plane, and stated that the new German Minister for Foreign Affairs, Count Schwerin von Krosigk, had asked him to arrange a meeting with Gen. Eisenhower to discuss a German surrender.

Alone in the Doenitz Cabinet, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel violently opposed the surrender move.

Meanwhile, Gen. Franz Boehme, the German commander in Norway, refused to surrender his forces except on the direct, written order of Doenitz. He said his troops were intact and could hold out a couple of months longer.

Shortly after Count von Krosigk telephoned that direct communications had been established with Gen. Eisenhower and that negotiations, which would include Norway, had begun.

At 10 15 a.m. on Monday, May 7, came the final telephone call from the German Foreign Minister. On the night of May 6-7, Germany's complete capitulation had been decided.

Last Wednesday night Barber Ben paid a visit to the home of Bill, the Broad Street barber. After coffee and cakes, Ben remarked, "Well, Bill, I must be going now. Don't trouble to see me to the door." Bill replied "No trouble at all. It's a pleasure" . . . Yesterday Bill visited a store to purchase a collar. "I want a stiff collar" he remarked to a clerk. "What kind?" the clerk asked. "I am not quite sure, but it is size 15" the barber replied. "Do you want a collar something like this?" the clerk inquired, pointing to his own. "No, I want a clean one." Bill smirked . . . From The Hamilton Spectator: "What rankles in the minds of the consuming public is the fact that when wartime restrictions were imposed on liquor and its strength was heavily diluted with water, the distillers reduced their prices to the Provincial liquor boards. But the liquor boards did not reduce their prices to the consumers. They continued to charge just as much for the diluted liquor as they did when beverages were of recognized soundness. Hence their profits have been immense during this period, as they might well be with the public receiving 'heavy water,' but paying for liquor of prewar potency" . . . Many a smart man who is always telling other persons where to get off at, rides past his own station . . . Distant relatives do not always keep their distance . . . Lewis J. CHLORINATION

Sir,—The opponents of chlorination seem to imply that it was imposed on the people of Victoria simply to annoy them and injure their health. This would be a strange proceeding for an administration dependent on popular favor for its support. During the two weeks or so that it was not known that chlorination was already in effect I do not remember seeing any letters in the papers or hearing of any complaints of the awful taste of the water or its bad effect on popular health, but the moment it became known a howl of indignation arose and everything from the baby's colic to the mother's rash was attributed to it.

I suppose if one of these anti-chlorinationists fell sick he would not call in a doctor but convoke a public meeting and from the combined wisdom of the tinker, the tailor, the soldier and the sailor would accept a diagnosis and remedy. Or if his car broke down on the street he would despise the opinion of an expert and rely on the conflicting views of the assembled pedestrians, many of whom never drove a car.

One gentleman wrote deprecating any interference with the pure water with which Providence had supplied us. I presume he would favor the removal of all filters, settling tanks, chlorine and other agencies for destroying the bacteria and vegetable matter which Nature unaided had deposited in the water. In other words, if he wished to risk the luxury of a death by typhus why should anyone debar him from it?

It is a strange world, my masters. Chemists may analyse, health officers may warn and doctors advise but

Editor's Note: We seem to recall that in the two-week period referred to certain and sundry authorities were quite active in declaring that the water was not being chlorinated. From the start it was the methods adopted that annoyed, with quite as many experts on the other side of this matter.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock at any time add 30.6 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Most Civilian Internees Held In Canada Have Been Released

OTTAWA, Sept 7 (CP)—Once numbered in the thousands when the Empire stood in peril, the total of civilian internees held in Canadian custody has shrunk to virtually nothing, it was learned today.

Among the few still held are 21 [illegible] German, Hungarian, Finnish and other nationalities formerly at war with the Allies—who were recently moved from an internment camp 15 miles from Fredericton to a camp at Monteith, Ont.

Eight of them were Germans. Some were captured on the high seas, some on land. It is expected they will eventually be deported.

At its peak, the internment figure stood at 3,883, the bulk—2,394—being internees and European refugees brought to this country from the United Kingdom. Many of them were released months and even years ago.

Canada herself interned 1,489 civilians as persons who might prove dangerous in some way to the national welfare and to prosecution of the war. The legal instrument for this was the Defence of Canada Regulations.

The merchant seamen and the few other persons still detained are held on Canadian responsibility. All those held on British responsibility have been released.

The list of internees touched the great and the unknown. Camillien Houde, now Mayor of Montreal, was probably the most noted native Canadian interned. Among the hundreds of enemy aliens brought from Britain and later returned was Prince Friedrich Georg Hohenzollern, fourth son of the former Crown Prince of Germany.

Of the number shipped from Britain, 1,500 were refugees from Europe. Main reason for their internment was due to the perilous situation in the Great Britain of 1940 when anyone under the slightest suspicion was taken into custody.

Among them were outstanding scholars, doctors, scientists and technical workers, many of whom later returned to Britain and worked for the Allied cause. In camps here they were segregated according to their sympathies, Nazi or otherwise. Known Nazi leaders were kept separate from all others.

YOU may think he is just an ordinary dog but according to 3rd Division Headquarters orders, Skipper is a full "colonel" entitled to wear crown, pips and service ribbons.

Arrival home of Skipper and his master, Lt. C. D. Carnegie, ended nearly 100,000 miles of travel which began when they left in Victoria in August, 1940.

Waiting to greet the famous travelers at the boat on Thursday was the lieutenant's mother, Mrs. C. G. Carnegie, Langford Lake. Lt. Carnegie was met by his wife at Vancouver.

Escaping the eye of shipmaster and quarantine officials proved something of a problem in tactics, according to Lt. Carnegie. Three weeks devoted to kit bag rationing, combined with intelligent co-operation on the part of Skipper, however, made the scheme successful.

When somebody tipped off port officials in England as to the contraband cargo carried by Lt. Carnegie, a quick shift of baggage amongst fellow passengers and Skipper's perfect military discipline prevented detection.

Although quite fond of Canadian beer and "the odd nip of whisky," it took Skipper a year and a half to become accustomed to English beer. His favorite sport is a fast motorcycle ride.

Canada's Dollar-a-Year Men Leave Branches of Controls

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Ottawa's dollar-a-year men, prominent in wartime administration of production and controls, are disappearing rapidly from some branches but are continuing with few changes in others, a survey indicated today.

In the Prices Board and associated companies these men, officially labelled "unpaid personnel," now number 277, a reduction of only one since March 31. With the main job of the Prices Board—controlling inflation—facing probably its most severe test, it is considered likely most of them will be on the job for some time.

On the other hand, the dollar-a-year men who have been filling Munitions Department posts have been dwindling rapidly.

Some of these men, however, are taking a prominent part in the early stages of the Government's reconstruction program.

Top among these is H. J. Carmichael, former vice-president and general manager of General Motors of Canada, who resigned those posts in 1941 to become the Munitions Department co-ordinator of production. In the reconstruction set-up he holds the important position of director-general of industrial reconversion.

F. M. Ross, who was director-general of armament supply and equipment and who also recently took over the signals branch of munitions, is co-ordinator of the regional reconstruction committees.

Still continuing in the Munitions Department is Frank Brown, financial adviser, who has a big job ahead of him with the renegotiation of contracts. Work of the department's Contract Settlement Board, charged with winding up war contracts, also is likely to continue for some time.

J. G. Godsoe, co-ordinator of controls, still is on the job, though the number of controls has dwindled rapidly since "V-J" Day. One of the controls likely to continue for some months at least is coal, which is under the direction of another dollar-a-year man, E. J. Brunning. Rubber controls, administered by J. A. Martin, also are still in effect.

NO W.P.T.B. STATEMENT

W. R. Dowery, British Columbia regional head of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, yesterday conferred with Duncan K. Kennedy, emergency shelter administrator, and other W.P.T.B. officials here, but had no statement to make. He is here on a two-day visit.

When Sheila was 16 the family moved to Victoria where she attended Oak Bay High School and spent a year at Victoria College. In 1940 she returned to Tientsin, and obtained a post with the Kailan Mining Administration in April 1941. She was in Tientsin when the Japanese entered but was not interned until March, 1942, when she was sent to Weihsien, Shantung, where she has been ever since.

Last time Mr. and Mrs. Clark heard from Sheila was three months ago, when they received a note written by her in May, 1944. Censored by the Japanese, the letter said that she was well and cheerful and longed to be home.

Princess Elizabeth's Name Coupled With Greek Prince

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP) — The private life of youthful Princess Elizabeth has become a subject of public gossip in the surviving Courts of Europe, leading to speculation that a romance is around the corner for the heir-presumptive to the British Throne.

Twice within the last three weeks the name of the fair-haired, attractive princess has been linked with those of foreign princes and each time the rumors have been denied by Buckingham Palace. But since Princess Elizabeth has reached the marriageable age of 18, and is probably the most eligible bride in the world, Britons are expecting many such hints of impending engagements.

The arrival in London on Thursday of the Greek Regent, Archbishop Damaskinos, lent new color to the latest rumor—that the princess would marry 23-year-old Prince Philip of Greece, her second cousin. He is a lieutenant in the Royal Navy.

The Athens Monarchist organ, Hellenicon Aema, started this international buzzing a week ago when it said people in Greek Royal Family circles had hinted at the engagement. The paper added "During his stay in London, Archbishop Damaskinos may attend a happy solution which will connect intimately the British and Greek Royal Houses."

Tall, blond and handsome, the prince, son of Prince Andrew and Princess Alice (born Mountbatten), spent most of his life in Britain and now is serving as aide-de-camp to his uncle, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied Commander in the Southeast Asia theatre. He also is a cousin of King George of Greece and Princess Elizabeth's aunt, the Duchess of Kent.

Rumors first got busy with Prince Philip's name last April when Princess Elizabeth celebrated her 19th birthday and it was disclosed he had spent several of his leaves at Windsor Castle. Buckingham Palace temporarily halted speculation about Philip by saying it "knew nothing about the report from Greece."

This announcement, however, was notably different from the Palace's flat "official denial" 14 days before the suggestion published in Brussels that Prince Charles, 41-year-old Prince Regent of Belgium, was to marry "an English princess."

The story, printed by the responsible Roman Catholic newspaper, La Libre Belgique, did not name Princess Elizabeth, but no one was in any doubt as to who was meant. At the time, Prince Charles had just returned from a private visit to London.

Even when she was only 17, London newspapers reported that on her 18th birthday Princess Elizabeth would become engaged to one of the young Guards officers with whom she danced at informal wartime parties held at Windsor Castle. The Duke of Rutland and the Earl of Euston, both now 23, were mentioned.

The present outbreak of rumors got little attention from the British press apart from brief mention of the reports and denials. However, one or two newspapers expressed resentment at the way the Continent is making free with the name of the elder princess at the moment when she is training for the Throne.

A columnist in The Evening Star wrote "One thing most people hope is that the princess will marry for love as her parents did. Nobody nowadays would welcome a marriage to some young princeling just for the sake of finding a royal bridegroom to be the eventual prince consort."

Parliament Opening Marked By Return of Prewar Glitter

By HELEN BANNERMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—A twinkle of prewar glitter returned to the opening of Parliament today as Ottawa society officially occupied places in the Senate for the first time in six years.

It was hot, and the well-dressed women seated on crimson-upholstered benches behind the senators' chairs fanned themselves with invitation cards as they shifted their furs to cooler positions.

A uniformed C.W.A.C. officer and a navy nursing sister stood out among the ribbon and flower hats worn by the women sitting behind the capital's top-ranking diplomats: United States Ambassador Ray Atherton, Chinese Ambassador Dr. Liu Shi Shun, Russian Ambassador George Zabourin and French Ambassador Count Jean de Hauteclocque.

The Countess de Hauteclocque, just returned from a visit to her eldest daughter in Paris, won the day's style honors with an all-black costume topped by a black felt hat with a wide, high-sweeping brim.

Princess Alice, who wore ankle-length gowns for wartime openings, chose a blue sheer dress with a slight train for the postwar Parliament. The sheer material was draped over a pale cyclamen foundation and she wore a picture hat to tone with a small bunch of blue and pink ostrich feathers on the side of the high upturned brim.

When the acting gentleman-usher-of-the-black-rod led the members of the Commons to the bar of the Senate, Mrs. Gladys Strum (C.C.F., Qu'Appelle), only woman member of the new Lower House, was among them. Her costume was a light grey tailored suit and white silk shirt with the collar outside. She also wore a gold lapel pin the shape of a lamb, a present from her 15-year-old daughter, Carol.

Sheep have been known to exist for weeks while buried in snowdrifts.

Mastiff Aids Navy League Tag Day

CANADIAN Champion Heatherbelle Emperor, a bull mastiff, sits proudly between two conveners of the Navy League Tag Day, Miss Sally Hart (left) and Mrs. G. E. Bowes (right) on the steps of Prince Robert House. Heatherbelle stared very solemnly at The Colonist cameraman and shifted his H.M.C.S. cap slightly to one side of his head, indicating that when he donated his service to a cause he will carry it through with all the determination of his breed.

The three-year-old canine rating who weighs 130 pounds, will be seen today on the Navy League stand at Douglas and View Streets. His owners, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Mellish, Mount Douglas Crossroad, have given the Emperor's services in aid of the annual tag day of the Victoria and Island Division of the Navy League. Some 300 taggers are expected to canvass the downtown area today.

Onlookers who may feel nervous when confronted with Heatherbelle's rather determined expression will be relieved to know that Mr. Mellish states that while the champion is trained to knock and hold trespassers down, he doesn't chew them."

Government Controls Essential To Prevent Postwar Inflation

Political stability and economic recovery of Europe depends partly on proper nourishment, Mr. A. B. Food, local ration officer of W.P.T.B., told the Women's Regional Advisory Committee meeting here yesterday, with Mrs. Paul Smith, chairman, Vancouver, presiding.

Mr. Food urged co-operation of women of Victoria in the coming meat rationing. He said that once women understood Canada must help prevent starvation among people of Europe, they would be willing to use meat more carefully. The burden would be felt by the public and the farmer and all who handled meat distribution, but it was necessary because of needs of humanity.

Approving the Government's action was 94 per cent of the Canadian press, though many qualified by urging control of black markets.

Tokens would speed handling and ensure each person the full coupon value. Mr. Food asked that all customers keep the tokens in circulation, as only a limited number were being distributed.

Meat rationing does not mean an increased supply of bacon and ham, which have been in short supply, but it does ensure equitable distribution," Mr. Food declared.

Mrs. Paul Smith congratulated the ration board on careful planning of the new system of rationing and urged women to co-operate by giving all the information they had on the subject to their organizations. Mrs. Alfred Carmichael urged women here to save on butter in order to send more to the United Kingdom where they were in serious need for heat-producing foods.

PORK SHORTAGE AFFECTS SHORTENING

Supplies of shortening would continue short for some time, Mr. Food informed the audience because pork was short.

With clothing shortages expected to continue for some time, Mrs. Smith stated re-make centres would continue to operate for some time.

Vancouver reported a total month's attendance at 360, she stated. Remaking of suits from men's and C.W.A.C.'s uniforms was now being taught.

Mrs. Smith warned that the danger of inflation was greater than ever, and if controls were all lifted Canada would feel the impact of sky-rocketing prices.

Only 64 of 300 controls now remained, Mrs. Smith stated, but all these must be kept in order to control prices and quality. They operated in the interest of the buying public.

"This after-war period is the most difficult we have to face," Mrs. Smith said, "and we must do our best to guide and inform public opinion." A great deal of credit was due to the women of Canada for their help in the price and quality control program, and it was essential that they continue price-study panels.

Mr. Donald Gordon was expected in Vancouver on September 28, the chairman stated, and invited all Victoria women who could to attend a W.R.A.C. meeting on that date to meet Mr. Gordon.

Women of Victoria Will Help With Community Chest Drive in Districts

Women of Victoria who will act as captains of teams in the forthcoming Community Chest drive met Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Sara Spencer, 1040 Moss Street.

Miss Spencer welcomed the guests and congratulated the women who [illegible] drives during the war years. Mr. F. Paulding spoke to the group, explaining the work of the chest and urging their fullest co-operation in soliciting subscriptions. "Eight hundred cities in North America last year raised $215,000,000 for the Community Chest," he said. "As the modern way of caring for your neighbor, it spreads the load, building the community. It is efficient and economical. The goal for the ladies' division is the same as it was last year, $21,000, while the objective for Victoria has been set at $83,000."

Mr. Paulding stipulated that the subscribers could designate a particular agency, of the 20, if they desired. Special mention was made of the Citizens Rehabilitation Council, established to provide help for men and women in the services who find difficulty in settling down to civilian life.

Miss Spencer introduced Mrs. A. H. Cox, new vice-chairman, who wished the Community Chest "the greatest success," saying "We must sell the campaign for youth. They are going to be our citizens of tomorrow."

Mrs. Kenneth Barr, secretary, extended her best wishes, and brought greetings from Mr. Raymond Jones. Pictures of special case work were shown by Mrs. Barr. In conclusion she said: "I, too, wish you every success. I assure you that the money is needed and will be well spent."

Miss Spencer announced that a meeting will be held Monday at 3 p.m. at Government House. Tea was served, Mrs. F. E. Winslow presiding.

Captains will have several members working with them on a committee, and will canvass the many districts of Victoria. Among the women acting as captains will be Mrs. Blair Reid, Mrs. E. L. Rogers, Mrs. P. McElroy, Miss Isla Tuck, Mrs. L. L. Howard, Mrs. J. V. Barnes, Mrs. Rod MacKenzie, Mrs. S. H. Frame, Mrs. W. B. Milburn, Mrs. Brownett, Mrs. E. Mallek, Mrs. H. L. Campbell, Mrs. J. DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (CP)—Tynwald Court presented the Earl of Granville, Lieutenant-Governor of the Isle of Man, with an illuminated address and silver inkstand as a mark of affection and regard on his departure for Northern Ireland, where he will become governor-general.

Salt is used today for money in most of the Ethiopian Empire, and a chunk the size of an egg would buy a chicken.

According to Culbertson

It is strange, but lamentably true, that the same players who are most unrestrained about bidding slams are the players who should be satisfied with lesser contracts because of their unskilled play. Take today's deal, for example.

3 ♥	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♦	Pass	Pass	Pass

North, having slight confidence in his partner's playing ability, "held back" in the bidding. This did him no good, however, when South, taking matters in his own hands, bid the slam.

West led the heart queen. South won and laid down the trump ace. East signalled (more enthusiastically than wisely) with the nine of spades, and completed his echo by playing the spade three on the following trump lead. Declarer drew the last trump and then took the club finesse. East won, and after that there was no way of declarer's avoiding the loss of another club trick, and his contract.

East's signal in spades should have made the hand easy to play. South should have drawn West's trumps, cashed his other heart trick and ruffed his own last heart, then cashed the king and ace of spades. The spades played by East on these tricks would have made it unmistakably clear that another spade, if led, would be lost to East. Why, then, why not let him win that third spade? Declarer could simply discard a club in the knowledge that East would have to lead a club directly up to dummy's tenace, or a heart or spade on which South could discard his last losing club while he was ruffing in dummy.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (AP).—Grain futures sagged in late transactions today, with rye losing more than a cent a bushel in some cases and other grains falling fractionally. Trade was dull.

The Commodity Credit Corporation bought 700,000 bushels of wheat in Chicago yesterday and 225,000 bushels in the southwest, and the Department of Agriculture announced purchase of about 112,000,000 pounds of flour, equal to about 2,800,000 bushels of wheat. The C.C.C. also was reported to have raised its purchase price a cent for cash wheat, here, but traders said they understood the wheat must be better than that held in elevators for delivery on September futures contracts.

Oats shipping sales were estimated at 390,000 bushels, the heaviest in some time.

AMERICAN FOOTBALL PREPARING FOR SEASON

With Victoria's American football season just around the corner, Head Coach Bill Bishop and his associates had more than 20 young players out for training session last night at Macdonald Park, but that was not enough.

However, after the boys went through their paces and did a little limbering up it was learned that many more aspiring young gridiron performers are anxious to try for berths on the squad. All we can say is that the invitation awaits them, but in order to be in shape and learn the intricate plays they should waste no time in reporting.

Young Victorians have displayed a lot of interest in the game, and the officials of the league have more than shown their faith in the future success of the sport by their efforts to put it over. Final success can only be achieved by co-operation between players and the league officials, and for their own sakes and the benefit of the sport we would like to suggest that the players give this co-operation immediately.

We realize that it was perhaps a little difficult to get youngsters out for football practices as long as all of the other sports were in full swing. But Summer athletic pastimes which occupied the interest and time of the youngsters who will "pack the mail" for the American football team are practically completed.

Energetic officials have put a lot of time in the organization of the club. They have taken steps to make the sport go "first class." Their work has been successful. Ultimate success can crown the efforts being made to popularize the sport by strict adherence to training rules on the part of the players. Victoria has the player material and the coaches, so let's all climb aboard the gridiron and give Victorians a good show.

With a number of international matches arranged, American football can become a highly important part of Victoria's athletic program, and who knows, perhaps the series being played this year is only a forerunner of bigger and more important games to come.

GATHERED FROM HERE AND THERE

Mike Ryba, who pitched a three-hitter for the Boston Red Sox yesterday, is another veteran who is turning in some smart performances in the major leagues. Ryba is 40 years old and was purchased from the Rochester Red Wings of the International League by the American League club five years ago. One of the outstanding right-hander hurlers in the American circuit, Ryba became a 20-game winner for the second time in his long career in 1941 . . . Bellingham Bells are a little burned up over the action of the officials of the Vancouver Baseball League, and rightly so. According to a Vancouver press report, the league officials called off a scheduled play-off game between Arnold & Quigley and Bellingham Bells because Kretchmar and Rickert, members of the Seattle Coast Guard, were unable to get off to play at Vancouver . . . Norm Stewardson, well-known local soccer goalie and a former president of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association, was elected president at the annual meeting held last night. Stewardson has always been interested in soccer, and during his earlier term at the helm of the local juvenile body did a lot of good work. Junior and juvenile football clubs are indeed fortunate in getting Stewardson's services again . . . Veteran racing pigeon fanciers tell us that Victoria born and bred racing birds are the best in the country . . . Adverts, women's fastballers, face real opposition today in the classy Collingwood nine from Vancouver, but Bob Whyte, local manager, is confident his proteges will give the visitors plenty of stiff opposition . . . Victoria's first grand champion in the "Wooden Face" baseball pitching competition will be crowned this afternoon at Royal Athletic Park.

Newhouser Blanks New York Yankees With Four-Hitter

Southpaw Ace Pitches Tigers to 4-0 Victory—Giants Stop Cubs, 2-0—A's Take Double Bill

NEW YORK, Sept 7 (AP) — "Lefty" Hal Newhouser trotted his sore back muscle out to the mound in Yankee Stadium today and for the sake of Detroit's American League pennant hopes, it wouldn't be at all bad if all the Tiger twirlers had the same ailment.

The slim southpaw who has been sidelined since last Saturday, came back from the doctors to serve a four-hit dish for a 5-0 decision over the Yankees. This stylish job left the New Yorkers six and a half games off the Bengals pennant pace.

LOWLY ATHLETICS WIN DOUBLE BILL

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 7 (AP) — The cellar-dwelling Philadelphia Athletics, easy marks for the American League opponents all season, got mad at Chicago White Sox today and with the aid of a batch of errors won a double-header, 4-3 and 9-2.

Connie Mack's A's had been held scoreless by Ed Lopat in the first tilt until the seventh when they scored once, then went on to win the ninth after Chicago's centre fielder Bill Mueller, committed two errors that were translated into three runs.

In the second game the A's broke a 2-2 deadlock in the seventh inning by scoring seven times on seven hits and three Sox errors.

SENATORS NOSE OUT ST. LOUIS BROWNS

WASHINGTON, Sept 7 (CP) — George Case stole three bases, including home in the first inning, as Washington tonight made it four out of five from St. Louis in a 3-2 American League victory behind Roger Wolff's four-hit pitching.

Case stole home in the first inning sliding under Pitcher Bob Muncrief's pitch to Catcher Frank Mancuso. The Browns' catcher protested so violently that Umpire Joe Rue chased him out of the game.

BROOKLYN DODGERS TURN BACK PITTSBURGH PIRATES

PITTSBURGH, Sept 7 (AP) — Tom Seats and Art Herring combined to hold the Pirates to five hits and pitch Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3-2 National League victory over Pittsburgh today.

In the third Ed Stanky was called out by Umpire Ziggy Sears, who claimed the second baseman ran out of the baseline trying to score on a rundown play in which Catcher Al Lopez failed to hold the ball. There was a heated argument in which Arbiters Tom Dunn and George Barr also became involved, resulting in the banishment of Brooklyn's Dixie Walker and Augie Galan.

Race Meeting Starts Today at the Willows

Well-Balanced Program for Opening Day at Popular Five-Furlong Track—First Post 2:45

They're off! This familiar cry, sweet music to the ears of punters everywhere will resound at the Willows today as the curtain lifts on Victoria's 14-day race meeting. First post time will be 2 45 p m.

Final arrangements for the program, last of the season's racing cards on British Columbia tracks this season were completed yesterday. The thoroughbreds will run at the Willows until September 24 with seven races daily, rain or shine.

Racing officials announced last night that the popular daily double will be on the first and second races, with the one-two or quinella, on the seventh race only.

On today's opening card there will be two events at a mile or more with the balance of the program at shorter distances.

More than 200 horses are stabled at the Willows at present, and still more are arriving by barge and boat. Added interest to Victoria and visiting race fans will be the appearance here of approximately 50 thoroughbreds from Seattle.

Running commentary on each event will be carried over the track public address system with Jack Short the "Voice of the Races," at the microphone.

McSpaden Takes Lead In Dallas Golf Meet

DALLAS, Sept 7 (AP) — Harold (Jug) McSpaden the New England links capitalist who is second money winner of the year but hasn't a tournament championship to his credit took a strong hold on the Dallas open title today as he laid down a three-under-par 69, while all other first round leaders faltered except Slammin' Sammy Snead.

The bull-shouldered professional from Sanford Me ran his total to 137 at the halfway mark of the $10,000 War Bond tournament two strokes ahead of Snead the drawling belter from Hot Springs, Va who equaled McSpaden's round to go with his 70 posted yesterday.

Wee Ben Hogan who climbed out of a sick bed to shoot a 68 and tie McSpaden for the first round lead skidded with a two-over-par 74.

Vic Ghezzi of Deal N J and Johnny Bulla of Atlanta Ga were tied for third place with totals of 140.

"Lippy" Durocher Appears in Court

NEW YORK, Sept 7 (AP) — Leo Lippy Durocher who is trying to hold his Brooklyn Dodgers at least in third place in the National League pennant race, today pleaded innocent in Kings County Court to an indictment charging second degree assault.

Durocher and Joseph Moore a special patrolman at Ebbets Field, who also pleaded innocent were indicted in connection with the purported beating of John Christian, 21 a fan, following a night ball game June 8. Christian was alleged to have been heckling the Dodger players.

Both the Brooklyn manager and Moore were continued in $1,000 bail, and no date was set for trial. Durocher returned to New York from Pittsburgh last night to plead to the indictment.

Age limits in the other four divisions are: Division 1, under 18 years; Division 2 under 16 years; Division 3, under 15 years and Division 4 under 14 years.

HOW THEY STAND

V M D	2	0	1 000
Navy	0	2	000

Last night's score: V M D. 4, Navy 0.

Next games: Today, double-header, Royal Athletic Park, 2.30 and 8 p m.

Again receiving superlative pitching V M D made it two straight over the Navy in their best-of-seven Rithet Cup final, blanking the sailors 4-0 behind the airtight hurling of sturdy Cy Shillito, who scattered four singles in his best mound performance of the season. Close to 2,500 partisan fans were on hand, but found little to enthuse over as their favorites continued in their batting slump which has seen them blanked on six singles in 18 innings of play-off baseball.

Working the corners to perfection and continually pitching to their weakness in a smart performance, Shillito had the Navy hitters in the palm of his hand all evening, and never was in danger although working on a slim two-run lead most of the way. Only one sailor got as far as third base while two others managed to reach second.

Bearded Stan Scallion went the distance for the losers and turned in a creditable performance, although largely to blame for the runs scored off him. He was reached for 11 hits, several of which were infield rollers and bunts, but committed two obvious balks, let loose a wild pitch and fielded two bunts poorly in the second inning as the winners went into a two-run lead. Bad streaks on the bags cost the Navy possible scoring chances in two innings. Latiff opened the sixth with a single and was cut down stealing, while Bayduck was out at third in the ninth trying to go from first to third on an infield out with his club four runs behind and two out.

First two runs came in the second. Strouliger led off with a hard single off Latiff's glove. Work bunted and both runners were safe when Scallion let the ball roll past him. Taylor immediately laid down another bunt and the bags were filled when the pitcher started to make a play at third and then held the ball up when he saw it was too late. Forster lined sharply to Johnston and Shillito struck out to relieve the pressure, but Scallion loosed a wild pitch and the first run trotted across. Morgan then followed with an infield single to score Work. Parkins made a great attempt to throw the runner out at first but just missed.

Although picking up one or more hits in almost every inning, V M D were unable to break through again until the ninth when they counted another pair. Morgan was hit by a pitched ball, promptly pilfered second and raced in on Garnet's hit into centre field. Patterson sacrificed and Garnet moved to third when a balk was called against Scallion, to score after Walker gathered in Morrison's long fly.

Gar Taylor, who picked up three hits in the first game, made it seven for eight in the two games with four hits including a double, in as many trips. Reg Patterson, also hitting well in the play-offs, hit safely twice in three appearances, with Work picking up two bingles out of four attempts. John Bayduck was the only Navy sticker to cause Shillito trouble, poling out a triple and single, and drawing a walk in four trips. Ken Van Hatten came up with the fielding play of the game in the seventh, pulling down Garnet's long drive up against the fence in deep left centre.

Dominion — "The Unseen," starring Herbert Marshall and Gail Russell

Oak Bay and Plaza—Abbott and Costello in "The Naughty Nineties."

Rio—"Oh, What a Night!" starring Jean Parker and Edmund Lowe

York—"Dragon Seed," starring Katharine Hepburn and Walter Huston.

ATLAS THEATRE Nina Foch, young New York actress who Columbia executives believe will be acclaimed the dramatic find of the year, plays the leading ingenue role in "A Song to Remember," the Technicolor production currently starring Paul Muni and Merle Oberon at the Atlas Theatre. This is the largest role in a carefully planned build-up being given Miss Foch.

CADET THEATRE A reception given by a youthful king of a "government in exile" marked the start of production on Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Nothing but Trouble," a Laurel and Hardy starring vehicle which ends tonight at the Cadet Theatre. The setting was a replica suite in a swank New York hotel taken over as "capital" by a fictitious European kingdom.

CAPITOL THEATRE A neat screen package is being offered by Paramount in "Sally O'Rourke," an Alan Ladd-Gail Russell starrer ending tonight at the Capitol Theatre. The picture is based on the sport of kings horse racing, and previewers say it's an appropriate vehicle for the Ladd's talents in his second film since returning to civilian life.

DOMINION THEATRE Early Hollywood reports on "The Unseen" are establishing this Paramount mystery film as one of the finest of its kind ever filmed in the movie capital. The reasons are many, insiders say, with the direction and acting being cited as particularly outstanding. Gail Russell, Joel McCrea and Herbert Marshall are stars of the suspense film, now showing at the Dominion Theatre while direction is in the capable hands of Lewis Allen.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES "Happy as a kid in a mob scene." This description of the actions of juvenile extras in a big motion picture production occurred to observers on an outdoor location of Universal's "The Naughty Nineties," starring Bud Abbott and Lou Costello. The picture ends otnight at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. Fifty children were employed to enliven the atmosphere of a showboat parade scene.

RIO THEATRE To Marjorie Rambeau it seems as if she has always been an actress. And many theatregoers have received the same impression. Miss Rambeau will be seen at the Rio Theatre in "Oh What a Night!" the Monogram mystery comedy-drama which ends its run tonight. She is featured with Edmund Lowe and Jean Parker.

YORK THEATRE Agnes Moorehead became the screen's most hissable feminine villain on record with her selection for the role of the third cousin's traitorous wife in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Dragon Seed," which ends tonight at the York Theatre. She plays a bitter, shrewish Chinese woman who hates her husband's relatives.

The snapping turtle of the Mississippi has jaws powerful enough to sever a man's arm.

Well-Known Star On Holiday Here

John Brownlee, Australian-born baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who will appear at the Royal Victoria Theatre on September 18 with the "Footlight Favorites," is spending a holiday at the Empress Hotel with his wife before going on to Banff for rehearsals.

He first decided to make a career of opera while serving as a cadet with the Australian Navy in the Great War. While performing with the Melbourne Philharmonic Society at Melbourne, he was heard by Mme. Nellie Melba, famous opera star, who advised him to go ahead with his music. He did so, but remained with the Navy throughout the war, and served aboard the Sydney, which sank the Emden, notorious German cruiser operating in the Indian Ocean at the start of the war.

Mr. Brownlee said the youth of New York show a definite interest in opera and are becoming exceedingly well informed and critical.

He and Mrs. Brownlee, who is a collector of antiques and china, are spending their holiday shopping and visiting friends. They will commence their Canadian tour at Calgary on September 17.

Alternative Meat Rationing Plan Turned Down by Ottawa

Victoria meat dealers who suggested a 20 per cent cut in meat quotas as an alternative to rationing, yesterday received a message from Donald Gordon, Wartime Prices and Trade Board chairman, [illegible] that rationing is the only efficient and equitable method of meat distribution.

Mr. Gordon's reply read:

"Past experience has shown that when supplies of a necessary commodity in general use such as butter, sugar or meat are reduced below consumer demand, the only equitable and efficient method of distribution to consumers is by coupon rationing

"This board has always resisted the demand for rationing as long as any effective alternative remained, and rationing has been discontinued immediately supply conditions have permitted.

"To follow your suggestion," Mr Gordon went on, "would inevitably lead to maldistribution among consumers, who could not be assured of their fair share of supplies.

"Greedy shoppers would certainly obtain more then their proper share.

"The necessity of ensuring the sale of cheap cuts has been recognised in fixing coupon values"

A Wheeley, acting secretary of the recently formed Victoria Meat Dealers' Association, which made the quota-reduction proposal to Ottawa early this week, said he had also received a telegram from Hon J. G Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, stating he had referred the question to Hon. J L. Ilsley, under whom the W.P.T.B is organized.

Mr. Wheeley asserted his association believed rationing would not eliminate wastage of cheaper cuts of meat. Such wastage was more prevalent here than in some other Canadian centres, he said, and existed when consumers had money to buy the best meats.

Legislation of Mines Reviewed

Discussion of the work of the Department of Mines, and some background of its formation, was led yesterday by Dr. J. F Walker, deputy minister, at the last session of the three-day conference here of Government agents.

Dr. Walker told of the mining legislation in British Columbia, which years ago was based on the best in effect in Australia, and later in California. The meeting was then opened for criticism of the draft of the proposed Mines Act, which will embody three existing acts

In a brief address on "Social Assistance," made by C N Lundy, superintendent of welfare, agents were told of welfare work and of changes made which eased them of the burden of handling relief matters

At the conclusion of the session the agents were entertained at dinner in the Empress Hotel by the Government Among the invited guests were Premier John Hart, Hon. G. S. Pearson, Hon. E. C. Carson, Hon E. T. Kenney, Commissioner T. W S Parsons, and deputy ministers of all departments.

STRATHAVEN, Lanarkshire, Scotland (CP)—Sir Harry Lauder, celebrated Scottish singer, marked his 75th birthday by singing his favorite songs for scores of guests who visited him

Approve Move To Oust Japs

A resolution urging that all people of Japanese origin be repatriated to Japan and be allowed to take with them any assets in this country was approved by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities meeting at Qualicum Beach yesterday.

The resolution, last of more than 60 submitted for consideration by representatives of the various municipalities in the province, said that because of "Japanese national doctrine, outlook and expressed intention, they (the Japanese) will never fit into the Canadian scheme of life and work with us wholeheartedly in building Canada's future"

While it had been expected many delegates would speak to the resolution, most contentious of those submitted, no discussion took place. However, Mayor N. C. Stibbs of Nelson, chairman of the resolutions committee, suggested that it be left over for discussion later, but Mayor Percy George, Victoria, asked that it be disposed of immediately, whereupon a vote was taken There were only a few dissenting voices, mostly from interior points No count was taken.

The resolution was comprised of two parts One part urged the Dominion Government to take a referendum at the next Federal election to gain the opinion of the people on the question of what disposition should be made of the Japanese in Canada

Recently it was announced by the Federal Government that some 10,000 of the 23,000 Japanese in Canada had expressed the wish to be repatriated after the cessation of hostilities. The remaining 13,000 wished to retain residence in Canada.

The resolution, approved by the City of Victoria and the Kelowna Board of Trade, was submitted by the City of North Vancouver.

Doukhobors Stay In Prison Cells

Nineteen Doukhobors imprisoned for nude displays, for whom parole was ready, have refused to accept it and are remaining in prison, Hon R. L Maitland, Attorney-General, stated yesterday

Six of them are men held in New Westminster penitentiary. They refused to accept "tickets of leave" unless a similar parole was granted Paul Vatkin serving a life sentence on a charge of damaging a bridge

The women are at Kingston penitentiary, and their refusal of parole was on the basis that it was against their religion to accept a ticket because it was man-made law, and they obeyed only God's law

Mr Maitland said "This attitude is typical of their contempt for our laws and if they do not want to take their parole as any other person would take it, then the authorities would not be justified in granting it"

Moderator Notes Church Debt-Free

Free of debt and with many chaplains preparing to take up civilian work once more, the Presbyterian Church in Canada is now in a fortunate position, according to Dr. J M Macgillivray, Moderator of the General Assembly, who arrived here yesterday

"The church is entirely out of debt and has a bank balance" he said during an interview last night at the Empress Hotel "I imagine the individual churches also were able to hold their own"

Like all other churches in Canada, however, the Presbyterian Church lost many ministers to the armed forces as chaplains and combatants, Dr Macgillivray said. Of the 800 ordained ministers in Canada, 100 enlisted and could only be replaced by retired men

Elected moderator in June, Dr Macgillivray has left his own church at Sarnia, Ont., for the coming year in order to devote his time to the national organization. When elected he chose to devote his time to the Western portion of Canada having known British Columbia from his seven years of service in the Central Presbyterian Church, Vancouver He went East ten years ago

A chaplain himself during the Great War, he took deep interest in the ministers who donned uniform after 1939, and was particularly amused with one who reported for duty at Barriefield, Ont A burly brigadier asked who he was, and he replied that he was the chaplain

"This brigadier said 'I don't like chaplains.' and the minister promptly replied 'I don't like brigadiers' From then on he and the senior officer got on beautifully," Dr Macgillivray recalled

He will remain on Vancouver Island until September 14 when he will return to the Mainland, spending two months visiting churches between the Coast and Winnipeg

List Many Small Manufacturers

There are approximately 40 one and two-man manufacturing firms in Victoria, according to the trades licence department of the assessor-collector's office at the City Hall

Typical of the large total of small manufacturers in the city are toy and novelty makers.

Remainder of local manufacturers, totaling between 35 and 40 are employers of many men and women, ranging up to the largest employer, the Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd

Other types of goods manufactured in the city include a variety of beverages, lumber, sheet metal, dental supplies and ships.

Busy Winter Planned

The physical training department of the Y.M.C.A has a busy Winter planned, according to Archie McKinnon, physical director.

Training classes for boys will begin on September 17, and for men, September 24. Swimming instruction and classes will open the first week in October

Boxing, wrestling and weight-lifting classes will be organized as soon as sufficient interest is shown and leadership available, Mr McKinnon said.

Registration of Voters Speeded

Twelve centres for registration of voters in Victoria have been opened, and 100 election commissioners have been named by order in council to register electors. Additional centres may still be established. Registration will close on September 17

Those now open are Watson's Confectionery, Cook and Oxford Streets, Peacey's Drug Store, Menzies and Simcoe Streets, Bratney's Confectionery, Hillside Avenue and Douglas Street, Social Club Hall, 434½ Skinner Street Aaronson's Pharmacy, Cook and Fort Streets; White's Confectionery, Kings Road and Shelbourne Street Williams' Confectionery, Cook Street and Pandora Avenue, Hillside Drug Store, Hillside Avenue and Quadra Street, Campbell's Confectionery, Lillian and Richmond Roads, Campbell's Confectionery, Gladstone Avenue and Fernwood Road, and Turner's Confectionery, Birch Street and Richmond Road

Names for registration may also be submitted at Liberal headquarters on Government Street, and Progressive Conservative headquarters on Fort Street

Plans for a joint nominating convention are being made

Complicated Vote Situation Exists

One of the anomalies of the coming general election will be the position of under-age servicemen and discharged men. If they are in the services they may vote from the age of 18 to 21. If they are discharged, they must qualify as civilian voters, which means they cannot vote if they are under 21

Servicemen discharged before October 25 can vote as civilians, Capt W R Webster, in charge of the service vote, said yesterday.

He stated all qualified service personnel stationed in, or on leave in, British Columbia on October 25, may vote, provided they are registered on or before September 17.

Registrations are now being taken at all naval, military and R.C.A.F establishments by service personnel. Capt. Webster stated Personnel on leave may register at the office of any registrar of voters in the province.

Special polls will be established for active service electors where there is a sufficient number to warrant a poll Such polls will be presided over by service personnel.

Active service electors detached or on leave may vote at any established poll in the province

Association Formed

Fifty former employees of the Canadian National Railways, representing all trades and departments, met yesterday afternoon in Macdonald Hall to form the Canadian National Railway Veterans Association of Victoria

J. W. Graham was elected president and plans were made to meet on the first Friday of each month. It is understood a total of 150 retired C.N.R employees live in Victoria and vicinity, and an effort will be made to enroll them as members

Similar societies exist in every major city in Canada although each is independent, and there is no national association.

Coal Harbor Merchant Fined $1,000 Through Prices Board

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7. A. E Hole, operating a general store at Coal Harbor, on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, was brought before Magistrate A. M Wastell at Alert Bay [illegible] for violations of the price ceiling regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Major E. A Boyle, assistant enforcement counsel for the board, flew to Alert Bay to conduct the prosecution.

Coal Harbor was one of the Royal Canadian Air Force stations created during the war, and at one time 1,000 men were stationed there Of these, 115 R.C.A.F families lived outside the station and traded at Hole's store.

Following several complaints from the R.C.A.F. [illegible] and Trade Board investigated, and as a result Hole was charged with selling 44 items of groceries and meats above the ceiling prices. He was also accused of accepting coupons before their due dates and failing to display price cards He entered a plea of not guilty, but changed it during the hearing to one of guilty.

BACK TO SCHOOL

AFTER A SUMMER of playing on the sand, being his own boss, sometimes getting out of hand, the schoolboy kicks himself back to school once again under the teacher's rule. "Hi there," he shouts to his neighborhood chums, "back we go to those darn old sums." His dog lags along, "go on home now Pal, U can't come to school and lie at my feet." Then the schoolboy senses the Fall in the air, his feet walk along as a tester pall, he sees his goal with the coming of Fall, feels cleats on his shoes as he kicks the football.

BABY BUGGIES

AT TIMES OUR STOCK OF BUGGIES gets down to nil, but other times we get more than we can spare room for. This is a day when we have too many, so let's take the old axe to the price tags! We'll put them down just as low as possible and you can bet that whether it's a buggy at $8.50 or one at $9 you want, the price you pay will be less than you expected. We also have two very good Winnipeg couches at $10 and $15.00, complete with mattresses. They are real good buys, and a store full of tables, chairs, wash stands, rockers, etc. In a store as small as ours we must turn over our stock many times a month, and we find that small profits do the trick.

N.H.L. Adopts Changes in Playing Rules

MONTREAL, Sept. 7 (CP)—Governors of the National Hockey League ended their semi-annual session today after adopting the schedule for the coming year and completing [illegible] neous league problems.

The 50-game schedule, calling for the same number of games as in previous years, will be released for publication September 10.

President Mervyn (Red) Dutton said returning servicemen while on discharge leave or leave of absence will be allowed to rejoin their teams.

The Board of Governors approved the recommendation of the management committee that teams be allowed to dress 14 players plus as many goalies as they want this season, compared with 13 players and a maximum of two goalies last year.

Playing rules, as drafted at the annual meeting of the league last June, were adopted without any important change. These included the abolition of the minor penalty shot, and the removal of the red line back of the goal line for the application of the penalty for "icing" the puck.

The abolition of overtime periods in regular schedule games was adhered to for another season in view of transportation difficulties.

[illegible] first time in the history of hockey the rules as adopted by the N.H.L. will now be standard in all organized hockey, whether professional or amateur.

Mr. Dutton declined to say whether any agreement had been reached with the Pacific Coast League, an amateur body formed last year comprising nine teams in Canadian and American cities on the Pacific Coast. A representative of the P.C.L. has been conferring with N.H.L. officials in the course of the week but Mr. Dutton did not say what was the object of the discussions. It was believed, however, that the P.C.L. was attempting to work out a protective "no-raiding" agreement.

Governors present at the meeting were Senator D. Raymond and T. P. Gorman, of Montreal Canadiens; Connie Smythe, Frank Selke and Happy Day, of Toronto Maple Leafs, Art Ross, of Boston Bruins, Lester Patrick and Frank Boucher, of New York Rangers; Bill Tobin, of Chicago Black Hawks, and Jack Adams, of Detroit Red Wings.

Drugmen Take Jokers, 14-12 In Boxla Game

Owl Drug, losers of the city senior lacrosse league by four straight games, last night won a belated victory by outscoring Jokers, 14-13, in an exhibition game at the Willows. A small crowd paid $48.35, which will aid the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Part of the story of the Drugmen's victory is told by the tally of goals stopped: Hetherington, Jokers, 18, Aitken, Owl Drug, 30.

After a 4-4 first period, Drugmen gained their winning edge in the second quarter, scoring five goals to Jokers' one. Handsome, hard-working Wilf Scott, Jokers' junior playing with his senior mates, scored the lone Jokers' tally unassisted.

Each team took three goals in the third quarter, then Jokers put on a last-period rally, but never were better than two goals behind.

Only two two-minute penalties were handed out—to Popham, of Drugmen, in the second, and Douglas, of Jokers, in the last period.

At half-time Doug Fletcher, president of Victoria Box Lacrosse Association, presented the Little & Taylor Cup to Andy Ovcharick, team captain of Jokers, for their city senior league championship.

Line-ups and scores:

Owl Drug—Aitken, Popham 3, Winters 3, Ritchie 3, O'Connell 3, Shubrook 1, Jenkins 1, Denoni, Lazarus 2. Total 14.

Jokers—Hetherington, Straith, Bryant, Taylor 4, Ludbrook, Brown 1, Sage 3, King 2, Scott 1, Ovcharick, Walker, Harding, Douglas 1. Total 13.

Next Tuesday night Senators play Oaklands in the third game of the juvenile play-offs at 7.30 p.m., and Jokers Juniors play Murdies at 8.30 p.m. The junior game was canceled last night owing to lighting trouble that occurred as it started.

"B" Championship At Uplands Club

Play in the women's "B" championship will get under way on Monday at the Uplands Golf Club. Draw and starting times follow:

Will Attempt to End Series Today

REG PATTERSON

BURLY playing coach and catcher of the V.M.D. baseball nine, who will try to sweep the series in four straight games today as his charges tangle with the Navy in the third and fourth games of the Rithet Cup series. Already two games to the good as a result of identical 4-0 victories in the first two contests, the shipyarders are prohibitive favorites to take the series and an even money bet to make it in the minimum number of games. Stan Curry will go to the slab in the matinee attraction with Tommy Musgrave coming back in the nightcap. Pitching selections for the Navy have not been announced but Don Johnston and Lefty Pawluk are the only available regulars ready to go. Games will start at 2.30 and 6 p.m.
